

THE WEEKLY VALLEY HERALD
—also— of Advertising.

space.	12 w.	1 m.	3 m.	6 m.	1 year
1 inch	$1.25	$2.50	$4.00	$6.00	$10.00
1 inch	$1.25	$2.50	$4.00	$6.00	$10.00
1 inch	$1.25	$2.50	$4.00	$6.00	$10.00
1 inch	$1.25	$2.50	$4.00	$6.00	$10.00
1 inch	$1.25	$2.50	$4.00	$6.00	$10.00
1 inch	$1.25	$2.50	$4.00	$6.00	$10.00
1 inch	$1.25	$2.50	$4.00	$6.00	$10.00
1 inch	$1.25	$2.50	$4.00	$6.00	$10.00
1 inch	$1.25	$2.50	$4.00	$6.00	$10.00
1 inch	$1.25	$2.50	$4.00	$6.00	$10.00

25¢ per line for first insertion, 15¢ for each subsequent insertion. Payment required on delivery of advertisement.
Local notices 10¢ per line for one insertion.
Transit advertisements payable in advance.

NEW BUSINESS CARDS.

MARKET HOTEL,
Corner 1st St. & 1st Ave. North.
FRANK DARK, Manager.
—Minneapolis West.

This hotel has just been newly fitted up and offer to the traveling public all the modern conveniences and accommodations. Good stables and an experienced horsemen are at service any time.

FARMERS HOME
—J. G. LOY—
In Lange's old building near Minneapolis & St. L.
Depot.

THE BEST OF WINES, LIQUORS AND CIGARS, CONSTANTLY ON HAND.

LUCIEN DIACON,
—J. G. LOY—
Watchmaker and Jeweler.

CHASKA, MINN.
Dealer in Fine Watches, Jewelry,
Clocks &c.

Repairing neatly done and work guaranteed.
Shop on 2nd St., Their old Store.

PLATFORM BUGGIES!
THE CHEAPEST & BEST MADE.

JOS. ESS, Chaska.
Also Agent for the Curtland, New York Buggies.

I have a supply of Lumber Wagon and Single Wagon on hand of my own make which I will sell as cheap as the cheapest and warrant to be first class in every respect.
I am also agent for the celebrated Lund New York Platform Spring Buggy just the thing for family use, which I will sell very cheap and warrant.

Shop above Barthel's Saloon.

NEW BUCHER SHOP
(Next door to National Hotel)
Chaska, Minn.

The undersigned respectfully inform the citizens of Chaska that he will open a first-class Butcher Shop on SATURDAY, MARCH 20, 1880, and he invites the citizens of Chaska to call and inspect his stock and prices.

ANTHONY PURY, Prop.
WASHINGTON HOUSE.

CHASKA . . . . . MINN.
—J. G. LOY—
JOHN KERRICK, Prop.

Board by the day or week for reasonable prices. First class saloon attached. Good stabling attached to the premises. Travelers will find themselves at home.

haska Bakery
AND Confectionary Store!

The undersigned respectfully fully invites the attention of the citizens of Chaska & vicinity to his
BAKERY & STORE.
Fresh bread every day and cookies of all kinds always kept on hand. Cakes, biscuits and confectionery of all kinds order for weddings, feasts, parties and excursions, etc.

Shop on 2nd St. east of Her id office
HERMAN ERREN, Prop.

Dr. John A. MacDonald.
—J. G. LOY—
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Office on Pine Street, opposite the Court House.
Can be found at all hours of day or night when not attending to professional calls.

Chaska House.
CHASKA, MINNESOTA.

F. HAMMER, - - Proprietor.

This House is thoroughly furnished, and offers the best accommodations for board by the day or week, and for the traveling public.
Good stabling attached. Charges moderate.

F. HAMMER,
Chaska, Minn.

Chaska Express
ADAM RICE announces to the citizens of Chaska that he will run an express wagon and from the station.

On Arrival of Each Train, and will do general express and drayage business in the village of Chaska. Charges moderate.
ADAM RICE.

The Weekly Valley Herald.

A. L. DU TOIT & CO., Proprietors.

VOLUME 18

CHASKA, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, NOV. 4 1880

NUMBER 61

TERMS, $1.50 Per Annum.

The Valley Herald.
Official County Paper.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY BY
A. L. DU TOIT & F. E.
DUTOIT.
Editors and Publishers.

COUNTY OFFICERS:

Treasurer—Peter Wagon.
Auditor—L. Streukens.
Register of Deeds—F. Greiner.
Sheriff—F. E. Du Toit.
Clerk of Court—G. Krugenhof.
Attorney—W. C. Odell.
Surveyor—J. O. Brunius.
Judge of Probate—J. A. Sargent.
County Superintendent—Geo. M. R.
Coroner—G. F. Lau Bach.
Court Commissioners—A. W. Tiffany, Chairman, Geo. Kruger, Fredk. Hils, H. Paulson, and Jacob Truue.

CARVER COUNTY ELECTION ITEMS.

CAMDEN.
Hancock, 69, Garfield 69, Pochler 88,
Strait 48, Mills 61, Tiffany 74, True 10,
Kaeler 20, Hill 44, Halgreen 51, Van Krevlin 65, Cash 72, Streukens 137.

CHASKA.
Hancock 219, Garfield 93, Pochler 215,
Strait 97, Mills 131, Tiffany 152, Baxter 28, Streukens 312.

CARVER.
Hancock 27, Garfield 75, Pochler 52,
Strait 80, Mills 98, Tiffany 35, H. R. Denny 122, L. Streukens 126, Cash 116, Dr. Van Krevlin 16.

HAMPSHIRE.
Hancock 49, Garfield 127, Pochler 50,
Strait 123, Tiffany 103, Mills 69, H. R. Denny 143, L. Streukens 175, Dr. Van Krevlin 26, Cash 150.

HOLLYWOOD.
Hancock 55, Garfield 79, Strait 55, Pochler 73, Tiffany 75, Mills 55, Halgreen 103, Hill 23, Kaeler 6, Streukens 109, Van Krevlin 54, Cash 81.

HANCOCK.
Hancock 57, Garfield 58, Pochler 57,
Strait 56, Mills 64, Tiffany 59, Streukens 112, Van Krevlin 20, Cash 83, Denny 113.

SAN FRANCISCO.
Hancock 10, Garfield 119, Pochler 11,
Strait 118, Mills 14, Tiffany 115, Streukens 11, Van Krevlin 10, Cash 119, Denny 129.

BEYRON.
Hancock 97, Garfield 93, Pochler 112,
Strait 77, Mills 121, Tiffany 69, Streukens 120, Van Krevlin 76, Cash 114, Denny 104.

CHASABASH.
Hancock 155, Garfield 70, Pochler 156,
Strait 76, Mills 53, Tiffany 173, Streukens 224, Baxter 212.

LAKEVIEW.
Hancock 83, Garfield 74, Pochler 82,
Strait 73, Tiffany 79, Streukens 155, Baxter 112.

WATERLOO.
Hancock 132, Garfield 162, Pochler 146,
Strait 122, Tiffany 167, Mills 125, Halgreen 187, Hill 90, Kaeler 12, Streukens 212, Van Krevlin 134, Cash 159.

YOUNG AMERICA.
Hancock 97, Garfield 147, Pochler 147,
Strait 90, Mills 63, Tiffany 179, Streukens 244, Van Krevlin 31, Cash 211, Denny 182.

WACONIA.
We have not the vote of this town in detail, but understand that Garfield electors have 15 majority and that Strait and Pochler each received 98 votes.

How a Snake Moves.
A snake when on the ground moves often with considerable rapidity. The head is slightly raised, and the body and tail progress by means of the peculiar grasping power of the skin and ribs of the underneath parts, which enables consecutive contraction and elongation to occur. The movement is more or less flat with the earth, and the snake never coils upward, as is often figured in old and some new paintings and engravings. It can erect its head and much of the neck and fore part of the body, and this is also done when the creature is in horizontal coils, and quiescent. On moving up a stone or tree the head, neck and much of the body may be placed against the more or less vertical object, and a small portion only of the body may be left on the ground, but in this position the snake is liable to fall sideways. On moving up a tree they do not coil themselves round and round it like a rope, but they may do this when still. It is wonderful how snakes move along and between boughs, and, taking a turn round one with their tail end, swing and look for food, and also how they will make themselves up into a bunch on a fork of a tree, and remains there without falling. They swim in an undulating manner, but the body is wriggled on the same plane as the surface of the water, and not at right angles to it, but in rushing at their prey, both in the water and on land, there is more or less upward or downward bending of part of the body, and a rapid thrust of the head forward.

The Canochet Controversy.
Providence Special Telegram to Chicago Times.

The chief feature of interest to the world at large in the desperate struggle which ex-Gov. William Sprague is making to save Cannochet from Chaffee, the trustee, who has charge under the creditors of the immense estate of A. & W. Sprague, lies in the fact that Sprague thinks Senator Con-kling is at the bottom of the affair. Sprague and Chaffee have had at least one personal encounter over the business, and the former is out with a statement in which he says:
"As the thing stands, it is not the strength of our title we stand on at Cannochet so much as on the entire absence of title in the trustee. As you will find, the more you examine the matter, possessing title to the whole estate is in the Spragues name, and which can only be changed by the same being relieved of the duties and sheriff's sales attending the same. It appears that Con-kling has been on recently, and has had close interviews with Chaffee, and their whole plan was developed and smashed yesterday.
Mrs. Sprague was ready to step into Can-nochet, thinking that by doing so she would clear both Conkling and herself of the stain that is eating into them. They adroitly got a woman into my house who was to let them in, in my absence, but I hustled her off on the morning of the demonstration."
The friends of Gov. Sprague do not give out the closing sentence for publication, but it is understood upon undoubted authority that it accused Senator Conkling and Mrs. Sprague of sustaining intimate relations during a recent visit of both to Buffalo, when it is alleged that the Senator and Mrs. Sprague were at the same time at Pierce's Palace hotel in that city. A news paper paragraph was recently printed stating that both were seen at this hotel together. Gov. Sprague has placed with, prepared by a reputable firm of attorneys in the hands of Deputy Sheriff Tucker, directing him to arrest Senator Conkling, Mr. Ausin Corbin, in New York banker, Trustee Chaffee, Mr. Thompson, Deputy Guild and Lawyer Parkhurst, in case either of those persons trespass upon Cannochet.

Parnell visited Limerick on Sunday, and was escorted through the streets by an immense procession, said to number 50-000 people. He, like several other prominent agitators, made a speech, in which he said that parliament would not reduce rents, but when the farmers had to be reduced parliament would interfere and render a continuation of the agitation useless.

The wedding of Ulysses S. Grant, Jr., and Miss Fanny Chaffee, in New York, yesterday, was an extremely quiet affair.
The bride received a present in the shape of a handsome bracelet—some memento giftly furnished in the metropolis, the gift of her father, the ex-senator from Colorado. This was a far more sensible present than ever so many diamonds and such.

The Road on Indian Territory.
Wicnata, Kan., Special Telegram to Chicago Times, 31st.

The advent of Capt. Payne, this evening was the occasion of a lively local sensation.
He was met at the depot by an enthusiastic delegation of the Oklahoma Colony company, and escorted to headquarters by a rapidly-increasing throng. After a private conference of the leaders, the captain retained to his hotel, where the Times correspondent was granted an interview.

Payne is entirely confident of being able to move into the Territory early in November with several thousand colonists. The reports made to these headquarters represented Missouri, Arkansas, northern and western Kansas, but chiefly southern and western Kansas. They will come, not as single spies, but in battalions, and the movement will no doubt be a very formidable one. As for the counties of Sedgewick, Sumner, Butler, and Cowley, and a half-dozen others that could be named, judging from the correspondence received, one would suppose the whole country on wheels. Payne and his lieutenants are greatly elated at the present outlook, and know no such word as fail.

Hennepin County gives Garfield about 4,000 majority, but elects a part of the democratic County and legislative ticket.
Ramsey County is democratic by 300 majority, but elects the Republican County ticket by majorities ranging from 100 to 3,000. Fred Richter is elected Sheriff.

P. V. Deuster, is re-elected to Congress from the Milwaukee district.

TUESDAY was a regular Waterloo to the Democratic party not only in Carver County, but also in Scott. R. O'Dowd, Independent candidate for County Treasurer defeated H. Baumhager. H. J. Peck is defeated for the legislature by 4 majority and R. H. McClelland is defeated for County Auditor by 100 majority.

Mace Justice is elected Sheriff of Hennepin County. Mace is well known throughout the State and his many friends rejoice over his election.

THE ELECTION.
Hancock Busted.
GARFIELD ELECTED
and
A Republican Congress.

A tidal wave overtook the democracy last Tuesday, and buried them out of sight.

Garfield is elected President by a large majority. Every Northern State went Republican except New Jersey, California, and Nevada. They also make large gains in Congressmen, and will have control of that body. The U. S. Senate will probably be democratic, as they have carried the legislature in California and Nevada, securing two U. S. Senators from those States.

We publish the result by States, giving also the electoral vote, from which it will be seen that Garfield has a large majority:

NAMES	Garfield	Hancock
ALABAMA	10	6
ARKANSAS	7	7
CALIFORNIA	6	3
CONNECTICUT	7	3
ILLINOIS	11	5
INDIANA	15	11
IOWA	11	7
KANSAS	12	8
KENTUCKY	8	8
LOUISIANA	7	9
MAINE	7	7
MARYLAND	8	8
MASSACHUSETTS	11	11
MICHIGAN	11	11
MINNESOTA	11	11
MISSISSIPPI	8	8
MISSOURI	15	15
NEBRASKA	7	7
NEVADA	3	3
NEW HAMPSHIRE	7	7
NEW JERSEY	9	9
NEW YORK	35	21
NORTH CAROLINA	10	10
O. GEO.	22	22
PENNSYLVANIA	20	20
RHODE ISLAND	4	4
SOUTH CAROLINA	7	7
TEXAS	8	8
VERMONT	5	5
VIRGINIA	10	10
WEST VIRGINIA	5	5
WISCONSIN	10	10
TOTAL	222	147

Boots & Shoes
made to order by
GERHARD SCHROGERS.
CHASKA, . . . . . MINNESOTA.

Five boots a specialty, and a good fit guaranteed.
All work done at hand times prices. Repairing neatly done.

New Store New Woods
FRED HENNING.
Has just opened a new stock.

DRY GOODS,
Groceries,
ROOTS, SHOES, CROCKERY,
and
GLASS WARE,
and
Canined Fruits.

NEW
Livery Stable,
JERRY EHEMAN, Prop.

THE WHEELER AND WILSON
SEWING MACHINE!
Declared by the highest authorities the best in the world, and received the prize

GRAND PRIZE
at the Paris Exposition over 80 competitors.
No more button holes made by hand, the machine does it. No more coring by hand and no chaffin and noise.
It is the cheapest, because it is the easiest to learn, the easiest to manage and the lightest
running, and does the most perfect work.

See the Wheeler and Wilson before
purchasing elsewhere.
Second hand machines always on hand.
GERHARD SCHROGERS, Agent.
Chaska, Minn.

THE SAREENT HOUSE.
—J. G. LOY—
This new hotel, will be open for accommodation of travelers
SEPTEMBER 1, 1880,
and is situated nearly opposite the Court House.
CHASKA, . . . . . MINN.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

Notice is hereby given to whom it may concern that I, for and on behalf of the trustee or barbering my wife Mary May, who has left my decease and without any just cause or provocation, as I will pay no debts of her contracting from and after this date.
Wacoma, Sept 23rd 1880.
SAML. MOY.

SALE OF STATE LANDS.
STATE OF MINNESOTA,
COUNTY OF CARVER,
St. Paul, September 6, 1880.

Notice is hereby given that the County Auditor will offer at public sale, on the terms prescribed by law, all the School Lands that have been appraised and are unsold in Carver County, at his office in Chaska on Saturday October 3rd, at 10 o'clock a. m.

Let the lands to be offered may be seen at the Auditor's office for two weeks prior to the sale.

All lands heretofore sold upon which the interest is delinquent for more than one year will be re-offered.

O. P. WHITCOMB,
Commissioner State Land Office.

Notice of Mortgage Sale
Names of Mortgages—James K. Blacketter and Samantha Blacketter, his wife.
Name of Mortgage—E. B. Campbell.
Mortgage dated December 1st 1879 and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the County of Carver and State of Minnesota, on the 23rd day of December 1879 in Book "K" of Mortgages on pages 333, 334 and 335.

The amount claimed to be due and that is due on said mortgage at date of this notice (including an attorneys fee of seventy five dollars in said mortgage) stipulated to be paid in case of a foreclosure thereof is the sum of one thousand one hundred and twenty one dollars. The land and premises covered by said mortgage are described as follows to-wit:

The east half of the north east quarter of section twelve (12) township twenty six in the County of Carver and State of Minnesota.

And whereas default has been made in the conditions of said mortgage, and no proceedings at law or otherwise have been had or instituted to recover the debt or any part thereof secured thereby.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained and therewith recorded, and presented to the clerk in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises to be made at public auction by the Sheriff of said County of Carver at the front door of the Court House in the Village of Chaska in said County of Carver and State of Minnesota on Saturday the 10th day of November 1880 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage and costs and expenses of foreclosure and sale.

Dated Chaska Sept. 23rd 1880.
W. C. ODELL, Atty for Mortgagee.
E. B. CAMPBELL, Mortgagee.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,
COUNTY OF CARVER, ss.
In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Martin Naab
Deceased.
J. A. Sargent Probate Judge of Carver County.

The petition of Kathryn Naab, respectfully represents that Martin Naab was the husband of petitioner deceased. That said deceased departed this life on the 16th day of A. D. 1878, without leaving any last will and testament, to the knowledge, information or belief of your petitioner, that said deceased died possessed of certain personal property in said county, the value whereof does not exceed the sum of one hundred dollars, as your petitioner has been informed and believes, and said deceased also left certain real estate to the probable amount of one thousand dollars; and also left debts due and unpaid to the amount of one hundred dollars; that said deceased has left his surviving wife, petitioner, and two children Joseph Naab and Margaret Naab now living.

Your petitioner therefore asks that letters of administration of the estate of said deceased be granted unto herself.
Dated the 1st day of October A. D. 1880.
KATHRYN NAAB.

State of Minnesota, County of Carver, ss.
On this 1st day of October A. D. 1880, personally appeared before me the undersigned, the petitioner named in the foregoing petition, who, being by me duly sworn, did depose and say that he had read the foregoing petition, by her subscribed, and knows the contents thereof, and that the same is true of her own knowledge, except as to matters therein stated to be based on belief, and as to those matters
she believes to be true.

Hearing Oct. 25th 1880 at 10 o'clock a. m.
J. A. SARGENT,
Judge of Probate.

State of Minnesota,
County of Carver,
In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Mathias Hoen
Deceased.

Notice is hereby given to all persons having claims and demands against the estate of Mathias Hoen late of the County of Carver, deceased, that the Judge of the Probate Court of said county will hear, examine, and adjust claims and demands against said estate, at his office in Chaska in said county, on the first Monday of each month for six successive months, commencing with Oct. 1st 1880; and that 30 months from the 1st day of Oct. 1880 have been limited and allowed by said Probate Court for creditors to present their claims.

CONRAD FLEGGHAAR, Administrator of the estate of Mathias Hoen Deceased.

NEW
Livery Stable,
JERRY EHEMAN, Prop.

THE WHEELER AND WILSON
SEWING MACHINE!
Declared by the highest authorities the best
in the world, and received the prize

GRAND PRIZE
at the Paris Exposition over 80 competitors.
No more button holes made by hand, the machine does it. No more coring by hand and
no chaffin and noise.
It is the cheapest, because it is the easiest to learn, the easiest to manage and the lightest
running, and does the most perfect work.

See the Wheeler and Wilson before
purchasing elsewhere.
Second hand machines always on hand.
GERHARD SCHROGERS, Agent.
Chaska, Minn.

THE SAREENT HOUSE.
—J. G. LOY—
This new hotel, will be open for accommodation of travelers
SEPTEMBER 1, 1880,
and is situated nearly opposite the Court House.
CHASKA, . . . . . MINN.

THE HOLMAN
Liver & Stomach Pa
AND Medicinal Absorbent
BODY & FOOT PLASTER
AND ABSORPTION SALT
for Baths.

Use Without Medicine. Stimulates Absorption.
Best Liver, Stomach and Spleen Doctor in the World.

Wanted
Three Hundred
GOOD TEAMS FOR Railroad Work NEAR
Chaska and Eden Prairie
ON HASTINGS & DAKOTA "CUT OFF"
—J. G. LOY—
Wages $3.50 Per Day

Hay, oats and Ground Feed at wholesale prices. Board for

THE WEEKLY VALLEY HERALD.

ALSO - Rates of Advertising.

Space	1 w.	1 m.	3 m.	6 m.	1 year
1 inch	$7.50	1.25	2.00	4.00	10.00
2 inch	12.50	2.00	3.25	6.00	14.00
3 inch	17.50	2.75	4.00	7.50	18.00
4 inch	22.50	3.50	5.00	9.00	22.00
5 inch	27.50	4.25	6.00	10.50	26.00
6 inch	32.50	5.00	7.00	12.00	30.00
7 inch	37.50	5.75	8.00	13.50	34.00
8 inch	42.50	6.50	9.00	15.00	38.00
9 inch	47.50	7.25	10.00	16.50	42.00
10 inch	52.50	8.00	11.00	18.00	46.00

30¢ Legal advertisements, 75 cents per folio, ratification, and 35 cents each subsequent insertion. Payment required on delivery of ad.

1 folio is 250 ems solid matter. Transient advertisements payable in advance.

NEW BUSINESS CARDS.

MARKET HOTEL,
Corner 1st St. & 1st Ave. North.
FRANK DANK, Manager.
Minneapolis, West.

This Hotel has just been newly fitted up and offers to the traveling public and boarders the best of accommodations. Good stables and an experienced horseman at service any time.

FARMERS HOME
—J. G. LOY—
In Lange's old building near Minneapolis & St. L. Depot.

THE BEST OF WINES, LIQUORS AND CIGARS, CONSTANTLY ON HAND.

LUCIEN DIACON,
—J. G. LOY—
Watchmaker and Jeweler.
CHASKA, MINN.

Dealer in Fine Watches, Jewelry, Clocks &c.
Repairing neatly done and work guaranteed.
Shop on 2nd St., The old Store.

PLATFORM BUGGIES!
THE CHEAPEST & BEST MADE.

BY JOS. ESS, Chaska.
Also Agent for the Cortland, New York Buggies.
I have a supply of Lumber Wagons, and Single Wagons on hand of my own make which I will sell as cheap as the cheapest and warrant to be first class in every respect. I am also agent for the celebrated Cortland, New York Platform Spring Buggy, just the thing for family use, which I will sell very cheap and warrant.
Shop above Barthel's Saloon.

NEW BUTCHER SHOP
(Next door to National Hotel)
Chaska, Minn.

The undersigned respectfully informs the citizens of Chaska that he will open a first-class Butcher Shop on SATURDAY, MARCH 20, 1880, and he invites the citizens of Chaska to call and inspect his stock and prices.
ANTHONY PURY, Prop.

WASHINGTON HOUSE
CHASKA, MINN.

JOHN KERKER, Prop.
Board by the day or week for reasonable prices. First class saloon attached. Good stabling attached to the premises. Travelers will find themselves at home with me.

Shaska Bakery
AND Confectionary Store!

The undersigned respectfully invites the attention of the citizens of Chaska & vicinity to his BAKERY & STORE. Fresh bread every day and cookies of all kinds always kept on hand. Cakes, biscuits and bread furnished on order for weddings, fishing parties and excursions &c.
Shop on 2nd St., east of Herald office.
HERMAN ERIEN, Prop.

Dr. John A. MacDonald.
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Office on Pine Street, opposite the Court House.
Can be found at all hours of day or night when not attending to profession at calls.

NOTICE.
The undersigned Trustee for School District No. 26 Town Hancock will let to the lowest bidder the building of a school house and the furnishing of all the material necessary for it. The building is to be 20 x 36 feet, 12 feet high and contain 100 seats. It is to be of brick or stone foundation 18 inches by 18 inches setting and drop siding outside and all sided with flooring inside. 3 windows and 2 doors of paint, 1 chimney.
All bids to be in on or before October 22nd. Building to be completed December 1st next. The committee reserve the right to reject any or all bids.

MICHAEL DALY,
F. COLEMAN,
G. TUBERT, Trustees.

ROOMS TO LET.
I have six rooms to let in the second story of my residence suitable for three small families. For terms enquire on premises of

HENRY DEGEN.

The Weekly Valley Herald.

A. L. DU TOIT & CO., Proprietors.

VOLUME 18

CHASKA, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, NOV. 11 1880

NUMBER 52

The Valley Herald.
Official County Paper.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY BY
A. L. DU TOIT & F. E. DUTOIT.
Editors and Publishers.

COUNTY OFFICERS.

Treasurer—Peter Wago.
Auditor—L. Streukens.
Register of Deeds—F. Greiner.
Sheriff—F. E. Du Toit.
Clerk of Court—O. Krueger.
Attorney—W. C. Odell.
Surveyor—J. O. Brunius.
Judge of Probate—J. A. Sargent.
School Superintendent—Geo. Mix.
Coroner—G. F. Lau Bach.
County Commissioner—J. Ackerman.
County Commissioners—A. W. Tiffany, Chairman, Geo. Kugler, Fredk. Illis, H. Paulson, and Jacob Truue.

The St. Paul Globe came out on Wednesday with the appropriate heading: "Busted by thunder!"

Hon. C. F. McDonald, son of Dr. McDonald, of this city was re-elected Senator from Stearns County. Frank deserves this compliment.

It is estimated that the democrats will have one majority in the U. S. Senate and the republicans a small working majority in the House of Representative.

Hon. W. M. Campbell, is elected Senator from the County of Meeker, defeating Dr. Kennedy, his republican opponent, although the County gives a majority for Garfield.

Eligah A. Child, brother of the late lamented, Hon. Henry Child, has been elected to the Legislature from the Glencoe district. Mr. Child is a very promising young man, and his many personal friends in Chaska, heartily congratulate him over his success.

CAPT. JOHN GROETZCH, formerly a prominent citizen of this county, but now a resident of New Rome, Sibley County, was defeated for the Legislature, in his district at the last election, by only 50 majority. The district is democratic by over 200, which shows the captains popularity.

McLON COUNTY gave a republican majority for the national ticket at the late election. Yet Pochler had 160 majority and over one half of the democratic county ticket was elected. The people voted for men not party. It was the same in a number of other counties.

CARVER County gives the republican national ticket 140 majority. It also gave republican majorities in 1874 and 1877. Whether the county is democratic depends entirely upon the State and national nominations, so our citizens generally vote for the best men, regardless of politics.

The following are the republican congressional majorities in this state. 2nd District, Hon. H. B. Strait, 5,500. 1st District, Hon. W. H. Dannel 7,000 plurality. 3rd District, Hon. W. D. Washburn 8,000 majority. A pretty clean sweep.

The state normal school at Winona has already, for this year, an enrollment as large as the entire enrollment of last year. All departments of the school are unusually prosperous. The winter term opens November fifteenth. Entrance examinations November tenth and eleventh. All who design attending the school this year should enter at the opening of next term.

GENERAL RESULT.
Garfield and Arthur, Republican candidates are elected President and Vice President of the United States, for four years from March next.
Congress will be republican by 8 majority and the U. S. Senate will remain democratic by one majority.

An Able Delegation.
Carver County will have an able delegation in the next Legislature, and our interests should not suffer at their hands.

Col. Baxter has had many years experience in both branches of the Legislature and being an old citizen and large property holder, will look out for the interest of the people.

Hon. H. R. Denny, has also had several years experience in the popular branch of the Legislature, should render a good account of himself.

Senator elect Tiffany, is a "new hand" in the Legislature, but has had much experience in town and county affairs, and will undoubtedly get the "run of the machine" in a short time, and prove a valuable member and a strict guardian of the peoples interest.

Hon. Chas. Halgren, of Watertown, is also a new hand at Legislation, but is a thorough business man and can make his presence felt in the Legislature if he has the inclination.

The Glencoe Register, nominates the Hon. John B. Sanborn, of St. Paul, for speaker of the lower house of the next Minnesota Legislature. We respectfully supplement the nomination by naming the Hon. H. R. Denny, of Carver, for the position. Mr. Denny, has the necessary experience and ability to fill the chair much better than Gen. Sanborn, besides he lives in the country.

Branch Road to Excelsior.
We are informed that it is the intention of the Chicago and Milwaukee Railroad company, to build a branch road, from the Hastings and Dakota road, to Excelsior next spring. The road will probably branch off from the Hastings at St. Hubert Church, in the town of Chanhassen, and strike Lake Minnetonka at Excelsior, the distance being three miles. It will make a popular road.

You Will Not be Sorry.
For being courteous to all;
For doing good to all men;
For speaking evil of no one;
For hearing before judging;
For thinking before speaking;
For holding an angry tongue;
For being kind to the distressed;
For asking pardon for all wrongs;
For being patient toward every body;
For stopping the ears of a tale-bearer;
For disbelieving most of the ill-reports;

What Mrs. Hancock Says.
Few York Telegram, 6th.
A lady who came over to the city in the boat Governor's Island remarked that she had just visited Mrs. Hancock, and she "never saw a happier woman in her life."

"I hope you will pardon me for asking the question, madame," said the reporter.
"Why should she feel happy when her husband has been defeated in a contest for the highest office in the United States?"
"She thinks he has escaped a vast amount of trouble and responsibility," was the reply. "Mrs. Hancock is a lady who loves a quiet, home-like life more than the distinction she would have as the mistress of the White House. She knows that as long as the country is at peace her husband's position as general in the army is much more pleasant than that of president. She prefers her tranquil home on Governor's Island to the turmoil of Washington life. In this matter she is a sensible woman, and I know that I am repeating her sentiments, for I had a long talk with her this morning."

Norwood Items.
Election passed off very quietly in this village, the main contests seemingly being between Strait and Pochler and Tiffany and Mills. Republicans are very jubilant over the result of the Presidential election and bets thereon are now being settled.

We noticed Messrs. Haul and Merriman of Watertown, on our streets yesterday also Mr. R. Ziegler, the heavy merchant of Helvetia. You want to make Reinhold laugh, ask him how he enjoys driving with a Doctor.

Wheat continues to come in slowly. Mr. Slocum has already taken in over 25,000 bushels of this years crop. 85 cents is the present price.

We understand that Michael Herman has received his back pension and also an increase to $10 per month.

The trial of the young horse thief captured in this vicinity some little time since, takes place to-day at Glencoe. Some of our citizens have been subpoenaed to attend as witnesses. Wonder who will receive the state reward for his apprehension.

Willie Brinkhaus has returned to his duties in the Drug Store of Messrs. Mix and DuToit after a short visit to his parents at Chaska.

County Supt. Mix, has commenced visiting the schools in his jurisdiction.

Eddie Bachmann returned to his old position at the Drug Store on Nov. 1st. Eddie is a good clerk and we hope to see him remain permanently.

The Catholic Church in this place is nearly completed and reflects credit upon the energy and management of Father Braun, and the liberality of his congregation.

Messrs. Mix and DuToit have the largest and best selected stock of Christmas goods ever brought to this town, which they are selling at bottom prices. Call and see.

The Official Vote.
The following is the official vote of Carver County at the election held Nov. 2nd 1880, canvassed and returned by the canvassing board, consisting of County Auditor Streukens and Justices of the Peace Samuel Fowler, and Joseph Wassbecher.

For President.

Benton	97	93
Camden	69	69
Chaska	219	93
Chanhassen	155	72
Carver	37	95
Dahlgreen	49	127
Hollywood	55	79
Hancock	57	56
Laketown	80	77
San Francisco	10	119
Waconia	91	105
Watertown	132	162
Young America	97	147
Total	1148	1294

Maj. for Garfield, Rep

For Member of Congress.

Benton	112	77
Camden	88	45
Chaska	215	98
Chanhassen	161	76
Carver	52	80
Dahlgreen	50	125
Hollywood	75	59
Hancock	57	56
Laketown	82	75
San Francisco	11	118
Waconia	98	98
Watertown	146	140
Young America	147	96
Total	1284	1155

Maj. for Henry Pochler dem. 129.

County Auditor.
L. Streukens, no opp. 2,325
J. True, Scattering 116.

For Coroner.

Benton	76	114
Camden	65	72
Chaska	93	221
Chanhassen	93	134
Carver	60	116
Dahlgreen	26	150
Hollywood	54	81
Hancock	20	93
Laketown	46	91
San Francisco	10	119
Waconia	94	102
Watertown	134	159
Young America	31	211
Total	742	1663

Maj. for Dr. Cash, rep. 921

For State Senator.

Benton	121	69
Camden	61	74
Chaska	131	182
Chanhassen	53	173
Carver	98	35
Dahlgreen	69	103
Hollywood	55	79
Hancock	54	59
Laketown	78	79
San Francisco	14	115
Waconia	115	81
Watertown	125	167
Young America	63	179
Total	1037	1395

Maj. for Tiffany, rep. 358

For Representative.

First District.
L. L. Baxter, no opp.	608
Second District.
H. R. Denny, no opp.	803
Third District.
A. E. Kader	58
Adam Hill	239
Chas Halgreen	346
Halgreen over Hill	107

Text Book Bill.

Benton	140	13
Camden	95	19
Chaska	83	37
Chanhassen	138	13
Carver	112	04
Dahlgreen	124	00
Hollywood	62	45
Hancock	80	23
Laketown	123	08
San Francisco	105	04
Waconia	77	68
Watertown	176	06
Young America	221	18
Total	1538	331

Maj. in favor of act 1205.

SPECIAL OFFER TO SUBSCRIBERS.
We have completed arrangements with the publishers of the MINNESOTA FARMER whereby we can furnish that paper and the HERALD at the extraordinary low price of $1.05 per year. The Minnesota Farmer is a large eight page paper, containing forty-eight columns, published monthly, and filled with choice reading matter, having a Stacy Agricultural, Dairy, Sheep and Wool Poultry and Home department, with a large amount of miscellaneous matter, especially devoted to the varied interests of the north-west. It is a paper worthy of the general support and patronage of the people of this section: and under our special arrangements we can offer it as a premium to every subscriber at the low price above, and in your names.

This offer only applies to cash subscribers.

REALS.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.
Notice is hereby given to whom it may concern that I forbid everybody of trusting or harboring any wife Mary May, who has left any board and bed without any just cause or provocation, as I will pay no debts of her contracting from and after this date.
Waconia, Sept 2nd 1880.

SALE OF STATE LANDS.
STATE OF MINNESOTA.
LAND OFFICE.
St. Paul, September 8, 1880.

Notice is hereby given that the County Auditor will offer at public sale, on the terms prescribed by law, all the School Lands that have been appraised and are unused in Carver County, at his office in Chaska on Saturday October 2nd, at 10 o'clock a. m.

Lists of the lands to be offered may be seen at the Auditor's office for two weeks prior to the sale.

All lands heretofore sold upon which the interest is delinquent for more than one year will be re-offered.

Notice of Mortgage Sale.
Names of Mortgages.—James K. Blacketter and Samantha Blacketter, his wife.
Name of Mortgage.—E. B. Campbell.
Mortgage dated December 1st 1879 and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the County of Carver and State of Minnesota, on the 23rd day of December 1879 in Book "I" of Mortgages on pages 84 and 85.

The amount claimed to be due and that is due on said mortgage at the date of this notice (including an attorneys fee of seventy five dollars in said mortgage stipulated to be paid in case of a foreclosure thereof) is the sum of one thousand one hundred and twenty one dollars. The land and premises covered by said mortgage are described as follows to-wit:

The east half of the north east quarter of section twelve (12) township and hundred and seventeen (17) range twenty six in the County of Carver and State of Minnesota.
And whereas default has been made in the conditions of said mortgage and no proceedings at law or otherwise have been had or instituted to recover the debt or any part thereof secured thereby.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained and therewith recorded, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgage premises as determined by the Court at the front door of the Court House in the Village of Chaska in said County of Carver and State of Minnesota on Saturday the 13th day of October 1880 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage and costs and expenses of foreclosure and sale.

Dated Chaska Sept. 20th 1880.
E. B. CAMPBELL
Mortgagee.

W. C. ODELL.
Atty for Mortgagee.

STATE OF MINNESOTA.
COUNTY OF CARVER.
IN PROBATE COURT.

In the matter of the estate of Martin Naab Deceased.
J. A. Sargent Probate Judge of Carver County.

The petition of Kathrin Naab, respectfully represents that Martin Naab was the husband of the petitioner deceased. That said deceased departed this life on the 19th day of June A. D. 1878, without leaving any last will and testament, to the knowledge, information or belief of your petitioner, a copy of which is herewith served upon you, and to serve a copy of your answer to said complaint on the undersigned at the value whereof said deceased was deemed to be one hundred dollars, as your petitioner has been informed and believes: that said deceased also left certain real estate to the probable amount of one thousand dollars; and also left due and unpaid to the amount of one hundred dollars; that said deceased has left him surviving sons, Joseph Naab and Margaret Naab now living.

Your petitioner therefore asks that letters of administration of the estate of the said intestate be granted unto herself.

Dated the 1st day of October A. D. 1880.
KATHRIN NAAB.
State of Minnesota, County of Carver, S. S.
On this 1st day of October A. D. 1880, personally appeared before me Kathrin Naab the petitioner named in the foregoing petition, who, being by me duly sworn, did depose and say that she heard read the contents of the petition, and that she subscribed and signed the contents thereof, and that the same is true of her own knowledge, except as to matter therein stated, on information and belief, and as to those matters she believes to be true.

Hearing Oct. 28th 1880 at 10 o'clock a. m.
J. A. SARGENT.
Judge of Probate.

Notice is hereby given to all persons having claims and demands against the estate of Kathrin Naab late of the County of Carver, deceased, that the Judge of the Probate Court of said county will hear and adjust all claims and demands against said estate, at his office in Chaska in said county, on the first Monday of each month for six successive months, commencing with Oct. 13th 1880; and that six months from the 13th day of Oct. 1880 have been limited and allowed by said Probate Court for creditors to present their claims.

Administrator of the estate of Kathrin Naab Deceased.
State of Minnesota, S. S.
County of Carver.
In Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of Hollena Messen deceased.
In reading and filing the petition of Andrew Messen representing among other things that Hollena Messen late of said County died January 17 1880 intestate, and that said petitioner was the husband of said deceased, and that said petitioner is entitled to the administration of said estate, and praying that administration of said estate be granted to him.

Ordered further that notice be given to all persons interested by publishing a copy of this order for three weeks prior to said day of hearing in the Valley Herald, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Chaska in said county. Dated Chaska 23d Oct. 1880.

By the Court.
J. A. SARGENT.
Judge of Probate.

STATE OF MINNESOTA.
County of Carver.
IN PROBATE.

In matter of estate of August Zimmerman. On reading and filing the petition of Magdalen Zimmerman widow of said August Zimmerman, who died intestate, and that said petitioner was the widow of said deceased, and praying that administration of said estate be granted to her. Ordered that said petition be heard before the Court on the 25th day of Nov. A. D. 1880 at 10 o'clock a. m. at the Court House in said County. Ordered further that notice be given to all persons interested by publishing a copy of this order for three weeks prior to said day of hearing in the Valley Herald, printed and published at Chaska in said county.

Dated at Chaska Oct. 27, 1880.
By the Court.
J. A. SARGENT.
Judge of Probate.

CHASKA, MINN.
Dealer in FINE CONFECTIONARY, Choice Fruits, Oranges, Apples, Candies, Cream, Vanilla, and other delicacies.
ICE CREAM, LEMONADE AND SWEET CIDER, &c.
102 CROWN LEMONADE AND SWEET CIDER, &c.
102 Crown Street.

Minneapolis & St. Louis HOUSE.
NEAR MINNEAPOLIS DEPOT.
CHASKA, MINN.
BOARDERS BY THE DAY OR WEEK, WITH GOOD TABLE, GOOD ROOMS AND GOOD BEDS.
Warm meals and cold lunch with "hot coffee" furnished at all hours of day or night.
Wines, liquors, beer and cigars, of the best qualities always on hand.
JACOB VAN MULKEN, Prop.

SUMMONS.
State of Minnesota, } District Court, 8th County of Carver. } Judicial District.
Anna Adams, } against }
John D. Adams. }
The State of Minnesota to the above named Defendant:
You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the Plaintiff in the above entitled action, a copy of which is herewith served upon you, and to serve a copy of your answer to said complaint on the

Chaska Valley Herald

FRED E. DUTOIT, Editor.

CHASKA, MINNESOTA.

THE GOLDEN ROBIN.

Sweet bird with velvet pinion,
Sweet bird with golden breast
That glided past me, singing
Up to the roof-tree
I was not looking upward—
To earth my eyes were bent
When through the summer-woodland
The golden robin came
And on the eaves I noted
A shadow—nothing more—Slipping along the eaves
That seemed the forest-floor.

Till, lifting up my glance,
I saw thy charms confessed,
Sweet bird of velvet pinion,
Sweet bird of golden breast!

And in that quiet moment
Truth came to my heart
That books and masters taught me Vainly with weary art
That each event is varied
As each event is varied
A shadow or a singing bird—
Loss or love, or hope or fear.

AIDING THE ENEMY.

"I can't, I won't, I'm not going to—"

To a person unacquainted with the Gregory family, the above singular protestation would seem not only very cross and imperinent, but decidedly uncalled for.

Grandma Gregory, in the most mellifluous of tones, and with her sweetest daughter smile, was simply suggesting to her daughter Gertrude the propriety of putting up her back hair.

"But you are seventeen years old," the lady urged, to all appearance quite undisturbed by her companion's reply.

"Grandma, I shall not be seventeen till next Saturday," the young lady answered, with flashing eyes, "and it doesn't make any difference how old I am."

"When I went to Mrs. Graham's party, I said that my hair would never get out of my head again unless it went there itself. My head aches now with those old long hairs that that hair-dresser stuck through my scalp. I wish my head was as bald as Mr. Tomlinson's; then I should be let alone."

"You are very tall of your age, my dear," grandma began again, in the same unrelenting manner, "and for certain occasions—such as Christmas, or Grandma's wedding to-morrow night—the arrangement of your hair, as your own good taste will tell you, should correspond with your dress. There must be harmony in these things, else we might as well be barbarians."

"There'll never be any harmony about me, grandma, inside or out. I have got to be badgered all the time about my back hair, and I can't enter the room, and how I behave when I go to those hateful dinner parties, which nobody but an antediluvian can enjoy, why, then, grandma, you might as well give me up. For I shall never do you or papa the least credit."

"Just consider a moment, Gertrude," began grandma again. "Do you think that your hair, arranged as it is now, in a braid at the back of your neck, will be in keeping with your white silk dress?"

"No, grandma, I don't suppose it will, but I'm not to blame for that. I wanted a blue silk or a white muslin, with curls of my age; wear, but you bought the white silk, and what could I do? The discrepancy will be in this, grandma—that my dress will be old enough for a lady twenty my age, and my hair will be just as old as I am."

Grandma's patience did seem of the elastic kind, for even now, after all this provocation, she proceeded to argue the case in her most cheerful and smiling manner.

"Only care," she said, "to have you dress as becomingly as possible. You look a veritable, full-fledged young lady, my dear, and the costume that is suitable for many girls of your age would be in very bad taste for you. I hope you will acquit me of any responsibility for your outgrowth of short skirts and pinafores, my dear."

For a moment Gertrude did not speak. She stood before the library fire, looking down among the glowing coals, apparently in deep thought.

Finally she spoke, with a keen glance at her grandmother:

"I heard you and papa talking about Court Bentley last night."

"Yes, my love," the old lady replied, giving the last smoldering touch to a new lilac glove she was trying on.

"Well, grandma," said Gertrude, "if Court Bentley comes to this house to make a visit, you needn't think I'm going to be polite to him. I believe, grandma, that the reason you have been taken to talking so much about my back hair, and my style generally, is because you want me to look sufficiently mature for that traveling gentleman to take particular notice of. It won't work worth a cent, grandma, for I shall tell him my age the minute he sets foot in the house, and I shall wear my hair down my back unfettered by braid, ribbon or comb, and I shall endeavor to look, act and behave as much like a wild Indian as possible."

"Allow me to inquire, Gertrude," and now there was a trifling change in the old lady's manner, "what is the name of the gentleman you speak of?"

"The name is Mr. Bentley, and he is engaged to a lady in Berlin. You will perhaps see the propriety of doing your own sum over again, with a view to correcting the result."

"Oh, Grandma Gregory!" Gertrude exclaimed, her sweet face radiant with delight, "you may rig me now as you please, and you can hoist my back hair to my eyebrows, and fasten it with pins, and I'll never say a word, and I'll forgive you for ever planning about me, you naughty, designing grandma, for you know you did, and papa, too."

At this juncture a servant entered and presented a card to Mrs. Gregory. With a critical glance at her granddaughter, who had thrown herself into an arm-chair by the fire, to thank it all over, the old lady ordered the visitor shown in, and the next moment a gentleman of most distinguished appearance entered the room.

Grandma's greeting was very kind, and the visitor seemed sincerely glad to see his old friend again.

"This," said Mrs. Gregory, leading the gentleman to Gertrude, "is the little girl you need to tease so long ago, and who, I suppose, has quite outgrown your remembrance. Mr. Bentley—Gertrude."

"Indeed, no," the gentleman replied, as he shook hands with the young lady. "She has grown quite tall, to be sure, but I should judge, Mrs. Gregory, if I may be pardoned the remark, that your granddaughter has not outgrown her mischievousness."

"Quite correct," said grandma. "I think not."

Gertrude replied, with a blushing smile:

"I don't remember you, Mr. Bentley, though, if you will excuse me, I should not be afraid to hazard the remark that you have held on to your fun all."

Mr. Bentley was twenty-two, and looked twenty-five, and Gertrude, as she conversed in her unaffected and ladylike manner, was not quite seventeen and looked twenty.

Grandma was the picture of serene contentment as she listened to the pleasant chatter; and once, as Gertrude surprised a peculiar expression on the old lady's face, all her old suspicion returned for a moment, but she had never known her grandmother, with all her tact and diplomacy, to tell a falsehood, she dismissed the thought as unworthy, and gave herself up to the pleasure of entertainment.

The next evening Gertrude, in a white silk dress, her hair a la mode, was escorted to the wedding by Mr. Bentley. She had kept her promise to her grandmother, but she felt altogether over-dressed and uncomfortable.

Her own ideas in regard to what she should wear on all occasions were excellent, but her taste was unexceptionable, and now she grew more distrustful and unhappy.

Her companion noting the change in her manner, whispered laughingly to her as they took their seats in one of the front pews in the large church:

"You seem out of tune, Miss Gertrude. It is envy of the bride, or dissatisfaction with your escort?"

Gertrude's eyes flashed—they had been all ready to flash ever since the hair-dresser finished his work—and replied, considerably above a whisper:

"You are all that is desirable, Mr. Bentley—at least I suppose so—though I have not had enough attention from gentlemen to really be able to tell. And as for Carrie Sherville, who is going to marry a man over so much older than she is, just for his money, I don't think I feel anything just now but contempt for her."

"She may love him, Miss Gertrude, notwithstanding the damaging fact that he has money. Mr. Bentley ventured to respond a little satirically."

"Fudge!" said Gertrude, with a curl of her lip.

"Since you are satisfied with me, and not jealous of the bride, Miss Gertrude, may I inquire why you appear so—"

"Cross!" his companion interrupted. "You had better ask why I came to this wedding, Mr. Bentley."

"Oh, why did you wear my new dress and the arrangement of my top-knot, sir, and for no other reason in the world, unless indeed it might be that I was expected to come."

"Oh!" said the gentleman, with a peculiar mystification of countenance and tone, which for the moment seemed to quiet restore the young lady's good spirits.

An hour later, at the reception, Gertrude, who was sipping a cup of coffee and chatting gaily with her new friend, the bride, and her father, with her grandmother, had been directly behind her, remark cautiously—indeed, the ears they were intended for scarcely caught the low tones:

"He says there isn't the slightest truth in that report we heard."

Mr. Bentley went to get an ice for his companion, and on his return Gertrude was nowhere to be seen.

"She has gone to have a chat with the bride," Mr. Gregory explained; but the gentleman's manner of looking about the room seemed to Mr. Bentley to contradict the statement.

However, there was nothing to do but wait. Mr. Bentley proceeded to talk to a new European politics with an elderly Englishman, and chatted with a matronly French lady, introduced by Mrs. Gregory, but the lady's own language, much to her delight.

When it was time to go, Mrs. Gregory went in search of the trunk, and Mr. Bentley did not see her again till he found her in the hall, with her arm around the neck of a young man, who was looking at her with a look of intense admiration.

That was plain, for Gertrude's cheeks were painfully flushed, and her hand trembled as it touched his arm.

Mr. Bentley wondered what it all meant, as who would not but he said pleasantly, as he took his seat beside her:

"You saw the bride off, I suppose, Miss Gertrude?"

"No, I didn't," she answered, perversely, and then, leaning forward to address her father: "Papa, do you know that Carrie Sherville—I mean Mrs. Knight—looks as much as if she were as old as I am."

"She looks quite mature," Mr. Gregory replied.

"And I suppose you think that is enough," Gertrude resumed, in a higher key.

"Mr. Bentley," she continued, "What do you think of the way girls are driven into unsuitable marriages in these days?"

"I thought, Miss Gertrude, in these days that young ladies did about as they pleased," the gentleman answered.

"I am not talking of young ladies," was the petulant reply, "but the girls of my age."

"Because," the girl replied, with a blush of vexation, "you and papa have talked to me so much about Court Bentley's perfection, and Court Bentley's fortune, and when you have grown very much interested, you have looked me over so critically, for all the world like a milliner when she is selecting the shade best suited to one's complexion; and you talk for the last few months about the beauty and safety of early marriages, combined with your anxiety about my back hair—all these things I put together and added up, and my figures tell the truth and you know it."

"I shall give you an opportunity soon to be ashamed of yourself," said the old lady, quietly, "when I inform you that the gentleman you speak of is engaged to a lady in Berlin. You will perhaps see the propriety of doing your own sum over again, with a view to correcting the result."

"Oh, Grandma Gregory!" Gertrude exclaimed, her sweet face radiant with delight, "you may rig me now as you please, and you can hoist my back hair to my eyebrows, and fasten it with pins, and I'll never say a word, and I'll forgive you for ever planning about me, you naughty, designing grandma, for you know you did, and papa, too."

At this juncture a servant entered and presented a card to Mrs. Gregory. With a critical glance at her granddaughter, who had thrown herself into an arm-chair by the fire, to thank it all over, the old lady ordered the visitor shown in, and the next moment a gentleman of most distinguished appearance entered the room.

Grandma's greeting was very kind, and the visitor seemed sincerely glad to see his old friend again.

"This," said Mrs. Gregory, leading the gentleman to Gertrude, "is the little girl you need to tease so long ago, and who, I suppose, has quite outgrown your remembrance. Mr. Bentley—Gertrude."

"Indeed, no," the gentleman replied, as he shook hands with the young lady. "She has grown quite tall, to be sure, but I should judge, Mrs. Gregory, if I may be pardoned the remark, that your granddaughter has not outgrown her mischievousness."

"Quite correct," said grandma. "I think not."

Gertrude replied, with a blushing smile:

"I don't remember you, Mr. Bentley, though, if you will excuse me, I should not be afraid to hazard the remark that you have held on to your fun all."

Mr. Bentley was twenty-two, and looked twenty-five, and Gertrude, as she conversed in her unaffected and ladylike manner, was not quite seventeen and looked twenty.

Grandma was the picture of serene contentment as she listened to the pleasant chatter; and once, as Gertrude surprised a peculiar expression on the old lady's face, all her old suspicion returned for a moment, but she had never known her grandmother, with all her tact and diplomacy, to tell a falsehood, she dismissed the thought as unworthy, and gave herself up to the pleasure of entertainment.

The next evening Gertrude, in a white silk dress, her hair a la mode, was escorted to the wedding by Mr. Bentley. She had kept her promise to her grandmother, but she felt altogether over-dressed and uncomfortable.

Her own ideas in regard to what she should wear on all occasions were excellent, but her taste was unexceptionable, and now she grew more distrustful and unhappy.

Her companion noting the change in her manner, whispered laughingly to her as they took their seats in one of the front pews in the large church:

"You seem out of tune, Miss Gertrude. It is envy of the bride, or dissatisfaction with your escort?"

Gertrude's eyes flashed—they had been all ready to flash ever since the hair-dresser finished his work—and replied, considerably above a whisper:

"You are all that is desirable, Mr. Bentley—at least I suppose so—though I have not had enough attention from gentlemen to really be able to tell. And as for Carrie Sherville, who is going to marry a man over so much older than she is, just for his money, I don't think I feel anything just now but contempt for her."

"She may love him, Miss Gertrude, notwithstanding the damaging fact that he has money. Mr. Bentley ventured to respond a little satirically."

"Fudge!" said Gertrude, with a curl of her lip.

"Since you are satisfied with me, and not jealous of the bride, Miss Gertrude, may I inquire why you appear so—"

"Cross!" his companion interrupted. "You had better ask why I came to this wedding, Mr. Bentley."

"Oh, why did you wear my new dress and the arrangement of my top-knot, sir, and for no other reason in the world, unless indeed it might be that I was expected to come."

"Oh!" said the gentleman, with a peculiar mystification of countenance and tone, which for the moment seemed to quiet restore the young lady's good spirits.

An hour later, at the reception, Gertrude, who was sipping a cup of coffee and chatting gaily with her new friend, the bride, and her father, with her grandmother, had been directly behind her, remark cautiously—indeed, the ears they were intended for scarcely caught the low tones:

"He says there isn't the slightest truth in that report we heard."

Mr. Bentley went to get an ice for his companion, and on his return Gertrude was nowhere to be seen.

"She has gone to have a chat with the bride," Mr. Gregory explained; but the gentleman's manner of looking about the room seemed to Mr. Bentley to contradict the statement.

However, there was nothing to do but wait. Mr. Bentley proceeded to talk to a new European politics with an elderly Englishman, and chatted with a matronly French lady, introduced by Mrs. Gregory, but the lady's own language, much to her delight.

When it was time to go, Mrs. Gregory went in search of the trunk, and Mr. Bentley did not see her again till he found her in the hall, with her arm around the neck of a young man, who was looking at her with a look of intense admiration.

That was plain, for Gertrude's cheeks were painfully flushed, and her hand trembled as it touched his arm.

Mr. Bentley wondered what it all meant, as who would not but he said pleasantly, as he took his seat beside her:

"You saw the bride off, I suppose, Miss Gertrude?"

"No, I didn't," she answered, perversely, and then, leaning forward to address her father: "Papa, do you know that Carrie Sherville—I mean Mrs. Knight—looks as much as if she were as old as I am."

"She looks quite mature," Mr. Gregory replied.

"Because," the girl replied, with a blush of vexation, "you and papa have talked to me so much about Court Bentley's perfection, and Court Bentley's fortune, and when you have grown very much interested, you have looked me over so critically, for all the world like a milliner when she is selecting the shade best suited to one's complexion; and you talk for the last few months about the beauty and safety of early marriages, combined with your anxiety about my back hair—all these things I put together and added up, and my figures tell the truth and you know it."

"I shall give you an opportunity soon to be ashamed of yourself," said the old lady, quietly, "when I inform you that the gentleman you speak of is engaged to a lady in Berlin. You will perhaps see the propriety of doing your own sum over again, with a view to correcting the result."

"Oh, Grandma Gregory!" Gertrude exclaimed, her sweet face radiant with delight, "you may rig me now as you please, and you can hoist my back hair to my eyebrows, and fasten it with pins, and I'll never say a word, and I'll forgive you for ever planning about me, you naughty, designing grandma, for you know you did, and papa, too."

At this juncture a servant entered and presented a card to Mrs. Gregory. With a critical glance at her granddaughter, who had thrown herself into an arm-chair by the fire, to thank it all over, the old lady ordered the visitor shown in, and the next moment a gentleman of most distinguished appearance entered the room.

Grandma's greeting was very kind, and the visitor seemed sincerely glad to see his old friend again.

"This," said Mrs. Gregory, leading the gentleman to Gertrude, "is the little girl you need to tease so long ago, and who, I suppose, has quite outgrown your remembrance. Mr. Bentley—Gertrude."

"Indeed, no," the gentleman replied, as he shook hands with the young lady. "She has grown quite tall, to be sure, but I should judge, Mrs. Gregory, if I may be pardoned the remark, that your granddaughter has not outgrown her mischievousness."

"Quite correct," said grandma. "I think not."

Gertrude replied, with a blushing smile:

"I don't remember you, Mr. Bentley, though, if you will excuse me, I should not be afraid to hazard the remark that you have held on to your fun all."

Mr. Bentley was twenty-two, and looked twenty-five, and Gertrude, as she conversed in her unaffected and ladylike manner, was not quite seventeen and looked twenty.

Grandma was the picture of serene contentment as she listened to the pleasant chatter; and once, as Gertrude surprised a peculiar expression on the old lady's face, all her old suspicion returned for a moment, but she had never known her grandmother, with all her tact and diplomacy, to tell a falsehood, she dismissed the thought as unworthy, and gave herself up to the pleasure of entertainment.

The next evening Gertrude, in a white silk dress, her hair a la mode, was escorted to the wedding by Mr. Bentley. She had kept her promise to her grandmother, but she felt altogether over-dressed and uncomfortable.

Her own ideas in regard to what she should wear on all occasions were excellent, but her taste was unexceptionable, and now she grew more distrustful and unhappy.

Her companion noting the change in her manner, whispered laughingly to her as they took their seats in one of the front pews in the large church:

"You seem out of tune, Miss Gertrude. It is envy of the bride, or dissatisfaction with your escort?"

Gertrude's eyes flashed—they had been all ready to flash ever since the hair-dresser finished his work—and replied, considerably above a whisper:

"You are all that is desirable, Mr. Bentley—at least I suppose so—though I have not had enough attention from gentlemen to really be able to tell. And as for Carrie Sherville, who is going to marry a man over so much older than she is, just for his money, I don't think I feel anything just now but contempt for her."

"She may love him, Miss Gertrude, notwithstanding the damaging fact that he has money. Mr. Bentley ventured to respond a little satirically."

"Fudge!" said Gertrude, with a curl of her lip.

"Since you are satisfied with me, and not jealous of the bride, Miss Gertrude, may I inquire why you appear so—"

"Cross!" his companion interrupted. "You had better ask why I came to this wedding, Mr. Bentley."

"Oh, why did you wear my new dress and the arrangement of my top-knot, sir, and for no other reason in the world, unless indeed it might be that I was expected to come."

"Oh!" said the gentleman, with a peculiar mystification of countenance and tone, which for the moment seemed to quiet restore the young lady's good spirits.

An hour later, at the reception, Gertrude, who was sipping a cup of coffee and chatting gaily with her new friend, the bride, and her father, with her grandmother, had been directly behind her, remark cautiously—indeed, the ears they were intended for scarcely caught the low tones:

"He says there isn't the slightest truth in that report we heard."

Mr. Bentley went to get an ice for his companion, and on his return Gertrude was nowhere to be seen.

"She has gone to have a chat with the bride," Mr. Gregory explained; but the gentleman's manner of looking about the room seemed to Mr. Bentley to contradict the statement.

However, there was nothing to do but wait. Mr. Bentley proceeded to talk to a new European politics with an elderly Englishman, and chatted with a matronly French lady, introduced by Mrs. Gregory, but the lady's own language, much to her delight.

When it was time to go, Mrs. Gregory went in search of the trunk, and Mr. Bentley did not see her again till he found her in the hall, with her arm around the neck of a young man, who was looking at her with a look of intense admiration.

That was plain, for Gertrude's cheeks were painfully flushed, and her hand trembled as it touched his arm.

Mr. Bentley wondered what it all meant, as who would not but he said pleasantly, as he took his seat beside her:

"You saw the bride off, I suppose, Miss Gertrude?"

"No, I didn't," she answered, perversely, and then, leaning forward to address her father: "Papa, do you know that Carrie Sherville—I mean Mrs. Knight—looks as much as if she were as old as I am."

"She looks quite mature," Mr. Gregory replied.

"Because," the girl replied, with a blush of vexation, "you and papa have talked to me so much about Court Bentley's perfection, and Court Bentley's fortune, and when you have grown very much interested, you have looked me over so critically, for all the world like a milliner when she is selecting the shade best suited to one's complexion; and you talk for the last few months about the beauty and safety of early marriages, combined with your anxiety about my back hair—all these things I put together and added up, and my figures tell the truth and you know it."

"I shall give you an opportunity soon to be ashamed of yourself," said the old lady, quietly, "when I inform you that the gentleman you speak of is engaged to a lady in Berlin. You will perhaps see the propriety of doing your own sum over again, with a view to correcting the result."

"Oh, Grandma Gregory!" Gertrude exclaimed, her sweet face radiant with delight, "you may rig me now as you please, and you can hoist my back hair to my eyebrows, and fasten it with pins, and I'll never say a word, and I'll forgive you for ever planning about me, you naughty, designing grandma, for you know you did, and papa, too."

At this juncture a servant entered and presented a card to Mrs. Gregory. With a critical glance at her granddaughter, who had thrown herself into an arm-chair by the fire, to thank it all over, the old lady ordered the visitor shown in, and the next moment a gentleman of most distinguished appearance entered the room.

Grandma's greeting was very kind, and the visitor seemed sincerely glad to see his old friend again.

"This," said Mrs. Gregory, leading the gentleman to Gertrude, "is the little girl you need to tease so long ago, and who, I suppose, has quite outgrown your remembrance. Mr. Bentley—Gertrude."

"Indeed, no," the gentleman replied, as he shook hands with the young lady. "She has grown quite tall, to be sure, but I should judge, Mrs. Gregory, if I may be pardoned the remark, that your granddaughter has not outgrown her mischievousness."

"Quite correct," said grandma. "I think not."

Gertrude replied, with a blushing smile:

"I don't remember you, Mr. Bentley, though, if you will excuse me, I should not be afraid to hazard the remark that you have held on to your fun all."

Mr. Bentley was twenty-two, and looked twenty-five, and Gertrude, as she conversed in her unaffected and ladylike manner, was not quite seventeen and looked twenty.

Grandma was the picture of serene contentment as she listened to the pleasant chatter; and once, as Gertrude surprised a peculiar expression on the old lady's face, all her old suspicion returned for a moment, but she had never known her grandmother, with all her tact and diplomacy, to tell a falsehood, she dismissed the thought as unworthy, and gave herself up to the pleasure of entertainment.

The next evening Gertrude, in a white silk dress, her hair a la mode, was escorted to the wedding by Mr. Bentley. She had kept her promise to her grandmother, but she felt altogether over-dressed and uncomfortable.

Her own ideas in regard to what she should wear on all occasions were excellent, but her taste was unexceptionable, and now she grew more distrustful and unhappy.

Her companion noting the change in her manner, whispered laughingly to her as they took their seats in one of the front pews in the large church:

"You seem out of tune, Miss Gertrude. It is envy of the bride, or dissatisfaction with your escort?"

Gertrude's eyes flashed—they had been all ready to flash ever since the hair-dresser finished his work—and replied, considerably above a whisper:

"You are all that is desirable, Mr. Bentley—at least I suppose so—though I have not had enough attention from gentlemen to really be able to tell. And as for Carrie Sherville, who is going to marry a man over so much older than she is, just for his money, I don't think I feel anything just now but contempt for her."

"She may love him, Miss Gertrude, notwithstanding the damaging fact that he has money. Mr. Bentley ventured to respond a little satirically."

"Fudge!" said Gertrude, with a curl of her lip.

"Since you are satisfied with me, and not jealous of the bride, Miss Gertrude, may I inquire why you appear so—"

"Cross!" his companion interrupted. "You had better ask why I came to this wedding, Mr. Bentley."

"Oh, why did you wear my new dress and the arrangement of my top-knot, sir, and for no other reason in the world, unless indeed it might be that I was expected to come."

"Oh!" said the gentleman, with a peculiar mystification of countenance and tone, which for the moment seemed to quiet restore the young lady's good spirits.

An hour later, at the reception, Gertrude, who was sipping a cup of coffee and chatting gaily with her new friend, the bride, and her father, with her grandmother, had been directly behind her, remark cautiously—indeed, the ears they were intended for scarcely caught the low tones:

"He says there isn't the slightest truth in that report we heard."

Mr. Bentley went to get an ice for his companion, and on his return Gertrude was nowhere to be seen.

"She has gone to have a chat with the bride," Mr. Gregory explained; but the gentleman's manner of looking about the room seemed to Mr. Bentley to contradict the statement.

However, there was nothing to do but wait. Mr. Bentley proceeded to talk to a new European politics with an elderly Englishman, and chatted with a matronly French lady, introduced by Mrs. Gregory, but the lady's own language, much to her delight.

When it was time to go, Mrs. Gregory went in search of the trunk, and Mr. Bentley did not see her again till he found her in the hall, with her arm around the neck of a young man, who was looking at her with a look of intense admiration.

That was plain, for Gertrude's cheeks were painfully flushed, and her hand trembled as it touched his arm.

Mr. Bentley wondered what it all meant, as who would not but he said pleasantly, as he took his seat beside her:

"You saw the bride off, I suppose, Miss Gertrude?"

"No, I didn't," she answered, perversely, and then, leaning forward to address her father: "Papa, do you know that Carrie Sherville—I mean Mrs. Knight—looks as much as if she were as old as I am."

"She looks quite mature," Mr. Gregory replied.

"Because," the girl replied, with a blush of vexation, "you and papa have talked to me so much about Court Bentley's perfection, and Court Bentley's fortune, and when you

ERIK-KING.

BY ALVIN C. CARWELL.

(From the German of Goethe.)

[Erik-King, in German, is the name applied to a poetical, personified, natural power, which, according to German poetical authorities, dwells in the recesses of the forest, and especially for children, through delectable selection.]

Who rides at night through the forest so wild?
It is the father with his darling child;
It is the father with his darling child;
It is the father with his darling child;
From the roaring forest from every harm.

"My son, what troubles the forest so wild?
It is the father with his darling child;
It is the father with his darling child;
It is the father with his darling child;
From the roaring forest from every harm.

"Oh, beautiful child! with me come and live;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;

"Oh, father, Oh, father! and did you not hear?
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;

"Child, 'tis but the ragged edge of a cloud."

THE SPECTER SPEARS.

"Oh, beautiful child! with me come and live;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;

"Oh, father, Oh, father! and did you not hear?
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;

"Child, 'tis but the ragged edge of a cloud."

THE SPECTER SPEARS.

"Oh, beautiful child! with me come and live;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;

"Oh, father, Oh, father! and did you not hear?
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;

"Child, 'tis but the ragged edge of a cloud."

THE SPECTER SPEARS.

"Oh, beautiful child! with me come and live;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;

"Oh, father, Oh, father! and did you not hear?
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;

"Child, 'tis but the ragged edge of a cloud."

THE SPECTER SPEARS.

"Oh, beautiful child! with me come and live;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;

"Oh, father, Oh, father! and did you not hear?
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;

"Child, 'tis but the ragged edge of a cloud."

THE SPECTER SPEARS.

"Oh, beautiful child! with me come and live;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;

"Oh, father, Oh, father! and did you not hear?
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;

"Child, 'tis but the ragged edge of a cloud."

THE SPECTER SPEARS.

"Oh, beautiful child! with me come and live;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;

"Oh, father, Oh, father! and did you not hear?
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;

"Child, 'tis but the ragged edge of a cloud."

THE SPECTER SPEARS.

"Oh, beautiful child! with me come and live;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;

"Oh, father, Oh, father! and did you not hear?
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;

"Child, 'tis but the ragged edge of a cloud."

THE SPECTER SPEARS.

"Oh, beautiful child! with me come and live;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;

"Oh, father, Oh, father! and did you not hear?
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;

"Child, 'tis but the ragged edge of a cloud."

THE SPECTER SPEARS.

"Oh, beautiful child! with me come and live;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;

"Oh, father, Oh, father! and did you not hear?
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;

"Child, 'tis but the ragged edge of a cloud."

THE SPECTER SPEARS.

"Oh, beautiful child! with me come and live;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;

"Oh, father, Oh, father! and did you not hear?
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;

"Child, 'tis but the ragged edge of a cloud."

THE SPECTER SPEARS.

"Oh, beautiful child! with me come and live;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;

"Oh, father, Oh, father! and did you not hear?
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;

"Child, 'tis but the ragged edge of a cloud."

THE SPECTER SPEARS.

"Oh, beautiful child! with me come and live;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;

"Oh, father, Oh, father! and did you not hear?
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;

"Child, 'tis but the ragged edge of a cloud."

THE SPECTER SPEARS.

"Oh, beautiful child! with me come and live;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;

"Oh, father, Oh, father! and did you not hear?
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;

"Child, 'tis but the ragged edge of a cloud."

THE SPECTER SPEARS.

"Oh, beautiful child! with me come and live;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;

"Oh, father, Oh, father! and did you not hear?
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;

"Child, 'tis but the ragged edge of a cloud."

THE SPECTER SPEARS.

"Oh, beautiful child! with me come and live;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;

"Oh, father, Oh, father! and did you not hear?
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;

"Child, 'tis but the ragged edge of a cloud."

THE SPECTER SPEARS.

"Oh, beautiful child! with me come and live;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;
Thou'lt share all the joys my power can give;

"Oh, father, Oh, father! and did you not hear?
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;
The Erl-King's voice is calling me;

"Child, 'tis but the ragged edge of a cloud."

and spend all his time in railway traveling, the chances in favor of his dying from railroad accident would not occur until he was 960 years old."

Plymouth Rock.

Of all spots on the American continent Plymouth Rock is religiously and sacrosanct, the most interesting and sacred. Here is the source and spring of America's greatness, the beginning and the end of her history. Plymouth Rock, the memorable landing-place of the Pilgrims, is covered with a massive granite canopy, in the upper part of which are deposited the bones, gathered from the neighboring hills, of several who died during the first year. The place will ever be regarded with interest as holy ground by their descendants all over the States, and indeed by all lovers of Christian freedom.

Pilgrim Hall, in front of which is a portion of the rock on which the Pilgrims landed, contains a museum of relics of the "Mayflower." Here, among other things, is a copy of the Indian Bible, translated by John Eliot, the apostle to the Indians, who arrived in 1630, learned the Indian language, reduced it to writing, translated the whole Bible into it, wrote the whole, it is said, with one pen, and had it printed and published by the year 1661. It was the first Bible printed in America. A copy was sent to Charles II., and Richard Baxter says of it: "Such a work was never before presented to a king." The marvel is all the greater when we recollect that the Indians at the outset were hostile to the settlers. Eliot went among them, showed them kindness, won the goodwill of some, became their friend, and sought their protection during Philip's war in 1675. The language, however, of his version is extinct, and only one person now living can read it.

Burying Hill commands an extensive view, and was an outpost of defense in the early days of the settlement. Here are the graves of William Bradford, the Governor, Miles Standish, and others. The fairest and most durable memorial, however, of the Pilgrim Fathers is the civil and religious liberty of the United States.

One of Rousseau's Jokes.

Rousseau went into a grocer's shop and said:

"Have you any eight candles?"

"Yes," he said, "we sell a good many of them. You see there are more poor people than rich in the world."

"Ah," said Rousseau, "I see you are more than a grocer—you are an observer."

"O, sir," said the grocer, flattered, "then you want, sir—"

"An eight candle, please."

"Only one, sir?"

"One to begin with; I'll see about more afterward."

The candle was produced, and Rousseau said:

"Will you kindly cut it in two?"

This was done, and he then said:

"Now would you kindly cut the two halves into four?"

"Into four, sir?"

"Yes; for my purpose I want eight small pieces of candle."

"One moment," would you kindly make a wick to each piece? And now can you oblige me with a match?"

This being done, Rousseau stuck the candle in a line on the counter and lighted them.

"May I ask what you are doing?" said the grocer.

"A joke," said Rousseau, "it is a joke."

"Yes; and, having made it, I wish you good-day."

As he left the shop the grocer ran after him, crying:

"But you haven't paid me for the candle!"

"If I did," replied Rousseau, "where would be the joke?"

Snow-Shoeing in Norway.

Of all the bodily exercises I know of, there is none in my opinion that can come up to snow-shoeing, as it is done in Norway. Skating is nothing compared to this sport. What can equal the splendid sensation of flying across the deep snow at the rate of many miles an hour, without hardly moving a muscle? And then, going down hill, staff in hand, no exertion necessary other than to keep the balance, while gliding softly but swiftly onward. Unlike the Canadian snow-shoes, these ska (pronounced shoe) of the Norwegians are often fully twelve feet long, curving up at the prow, and are not broader than the whole length they are provided with a groove for the purpose of keeping them from slipping when going at an angle down hill. Although by no means slow when used across level ground, it is yet downhill that they are most effective, for their long length and their polished undersurface on the frozen snow will speed more like flying than any other motion I know of.

The inhabitants of Telemarken, in the South of Norway, are most efficient ska runners, and at the annual competitions at Christiania generally bear off the prizes. At the competition there in 1879, one of these men leaped, according to a local newspaper, a distance of thirty Norwegian alens, or fully thirty feet! Into this country it will be impossible to introduce them, as of course there would be little or no opportunity for using them—the snow never lying long enough or becoming sufficiently deep.—Blackwood.

No Wonder He Failed.

He don't live in Galveston now, but he used to. He went into the marine and applied to the School Board to teach school. They examined him, and were surprised to learn that Cuba was a South American, republican republic. He also startled them somewhat in geography and history, and as for arithmetic, he bankrupted the whole number system. His proposition to teach was laid on the table, and subsequently, however, made a motion for a new treaty, which was granted. After the second examination a friend met him, and said:

"I hear you failed on the second trial?"

"No wonder I failed. They asked me the very same questions they did before."—Gilbert.

Mrs. Hicks-Lord Has a Success.

Full of courage and life, she is a pretty woman, which she fitted up with the taste and skill for which she has always been distinguished. So crowded, stately, were her rooms with pictures, statues, curiosities and old china that they were said to rival even those of Lady Durdent-Coutts. She has gathered about her a circle of devoted disciples, including Duke, Earl and Marquis, with a plentiful sprinkling of church dignitaries.

USEFUL HINTS.

To polish stained floors, rub them thoroughly once a week with beeswax and turpentine.

Stomach brine may be used to advantage in washing bedsteads; hot alum is also good for this purpose.

Dr. A new broom in hot water to make it clean. To take a broom from getting stiff and hard hang it in a cellar.

Glass should be washed in cold water, which gives a brighter and cleaner look than when cleaned with warm water.

To remove grass stains, wash the stained places in clean, cold, soft water, without soap, before the garment is put in the wash.

A very admirable imitation of stained glass for windows can be produced by pasting over common windows thin sheets of silk paper printed in brilliant oil colors, tastefully designed. The effect is said to be fully equal to the finest colored glass, and the cost a trifle. This will open a new field to amateur lady artists even more fascinating than painting.

The following ointment is excellent for an inflamed bunion: Iodine, twelve grains; spermaceti ointment, half an ounce. A portion about the size of a nutmeg should be rubbed on the affected part twice or three a day. If the bunion is not inflamed, the best remedy is to place on it first a piece of diachylon plaster, cut of lead and oil, and upon the second a piece of linseed, thus having a hole the size of the bunion cut in it.

One of the simplest and most effective things to write the hands is to take a wash of eau de Cologne and another of lemon juice, and mix in equal parts of brown Windsor soap to a powder and mix in a mold; let it be till hard, then use as ordinary soap. To whiten the hands, mix equal parts of dilute sulphuric acid and two drachms of white myrrh one drachm; strain water four ounces; mix. First cleanse the hands in the above soap, then dip the fingers into the mixture. This should be done at least twice a day until the desired effect is produced. Nothing adds so much to beauty as a delicate, well-shaped hand and nails, sooner the want of proper care and attention.

The following preparation, if it claimed, will render wood incombustible and impermeable: Sulphate of zinc, 55 pounds; sulphate of iron, 40 pounds; sulphate of manganese, 22 pounds; oxide of iron, 22 pounds; water, 550 pounds. All the solid ingredients are put into a boiler containing the water at 45 degrees C. (113 degrees F.), and as soon as they are dissolved the sulphuric acid is poured in gradually until the mass is completely saturated. The pieces of wood to be treated are then put into the acid, and after three hours (1.07 inch) apart, and after three hours boiling they are dried in the open air. The natural appearance of the wood is not changed. To whatever heat it is subjected the treated wood is not injured being simply covered with a thin, clear coating, which is easily rubbed off.

Having Fun With a Rattlesnake.

There was some excitement and much talk about the scientific enthusiasm of Dr. Stradling, surgeon on board the Royal Mail steamer Elbe, who had horrified the crew and passengers of that vessel by testing upon himself the efficacy of an antidote for snake bite which he had discovered. At Bahia he succeeded in purchasing a large rattlesnake, which he conveyed on board surreptitiously, and locking himself up in his cabin, deliberately made the snake bite him, with the result that he was found, some twelve hours after, in a state of coma, from which, however, he recovered without much difficulty. He declared that for many hours the venom had been without effect upon him. Being reexamined with by the Captain, Dr. Stradling promised "not to do it again." But it was too much for him, and at last he succumbed to the effects of the venom. He was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening, leaving a letter to the effect that he "was going ashore to try his antidote, so as not to break his promise to the letter to the effect that he felt confident of success, but that he would know what had become of him in case he failed to return." Of course this letter caused his friends on board much anxiety, and it was not until he was found dead that the truth was known. Finally he was discovered, lying on his back, with his head under a pile of blankets, and his hands clasped in prayer. He was found by the Captain, Dr. Stradling, who was taken ashore one evening,

Chaska Valley Herald

FRED. E. DUTOT, Editor.
CHASKA, MINNESOTA.

REMINISCENCES.

A Letter to a Lady Classmate.

BY ROSE FRANKENSTEIN DOTT.

Dear girl, to-night I think of you,
While looking down the old street,
While looking down the old street,
While looking down the old street,
While looking down the old street,

Twelve years ago, I met you,
My classmate and my friend,
Each representing, by some law,
A pleasure like a wily slave,
Or thoughtless wily turned to gold!

O! recollections of the past,
Come back and sign my name,
I cannot march, I cannot march,
I cannot march, I cannot march,
I cannot march, I cannot march,

Once I was younger, more serene,
And, I believe, more true,
And, I believe, more true,
And, I believe, more true,
And, I believe, more true,

To-day I'm older, still—Triumphant, I think I am;
Nature still turns the grinding mill,
And, I believe, more true,
And, I believe, more true,

My thoughts turn back, I think of you,
As when we met in school days,
I met you, I met you, I met you,
I met you, I met you, I met you,
I met you, I met you, I met you,

To-night I see, the moon is bright,
My parents' faces in my eyes,
The stars are shining in the sky,
And, I believe, more true,
And, I believe, more true,

Do you remember that one day,
We went to school upon the hill,
Where grew the catkins, rose and pear,
And, I believe, more true,
And, I believe, more true,

Was then we met, a party there,
Brought to the school by some one,
The place was full, and, I believe,
And, I believe, more true,
And, I believe, more true,

Al! many a time my mind returns,
To all those happy hours we spent,
And, I believe, more true,
And, I believe, more true,
And, I believe, more true,

But time changes all things, you see,
These happy days are long ago,
We "settled down," like Lena Lee,
And, I believe, more true,
And, I believe, more true,

The lot industrious, best of all,
Which raises presents up to throne,
That give out hopes for one and all,
And, I believe, more true,
And, I believe, more true,

I've labored hard, and, I believe,
I've labored hard, and, I believe,
I've labored hard, and, I believe,
I've labored hard, and, I believe,
I've labored hard, and, I believe,

And you have labored here as I—
Have preserved a joy, which, I believe,
Have preserved a joy, which, I believe,
Have preserved a joy, which, I believe,
Have preserved a joy, which, I believe,

We read our lives in Nature's book,
And, I believe, more true,
And, I believe, more true,
And, I believe, more true,
And, I believe, more true,

We read the history of hearts,
And, I believe, more true,
And, I believe, more true,
And, I believe, more true,
And, I believe, more true,

Don't you remember, girl, of all
The "loose" ones who we read,
Some proved a joy, which, I believe,
And, I believe, more true,
And, I believe, more true,

And now I leave thee, all alone to think,
And, I believe, more true,
And, I believe, more true,
And, I believe, more true,
And, I believe, more true,

THE LITTLE WAIF.

BY HARRIET D. S. CRESSY.

Mr. Jacob Pinkham and Mrs. Adela

Brownson were a goodly family, and as Jacob was a bachelor and Adela was widow, and both were of an age, many thought it a little surprising they did not marry; others thought it would be still more surprising if they did.

But Jacob was in their opinion, a confirmed bachelor. To be sure he was yet in the prime of life, and he was a goodly

man, and he was a goodly man, and

he was a goodly man, and he was a

goodly man, and he was a goodly

man, and he was a goodly man, and

he was a goodly man, and he was a

goodly man, and he was a goodly

man, and he was a goodly man, and

he was a goodly man, and he was a

goodly man, and he was a goodly

man, and he was a goodly man, and

he was a goodly man, and he was a

goodly man, and he was a goodly

man, and he was a goodly man, and

he was a goodly man, and he was a

goodly man, and he was a goodly

man, and he was a goodly man, and

he was a goodly man, and he was a

goodly man, and he was a goodly

man, and he was a goodly man, and

he was a goodly man, and he was a

goodly man, and he was a goodly

man, and he was a goodly man, and

he was a goodly man, and he was a

goodly man, and he was a goodly

man, and he was a goodly man, and

he was a goodly man, and he was a

goodly man, and he was a goodly

man, and he was a goodly man, and

he was a goodly man, and he was a

goodly man, and he was a goodly

man, and he was a goodly man, and

he was a goodly man, and he was a

goodly man, and he was a goodly

man, and he was a goodly man, and

he was a goodly man, and he was a

goodly man, and he was a goodly

man, and he was a goodly man, and

he was a goodly man, and he was a

goodly man, and he was a goodly

man, and he was a goodly man, and

he was a goodly man, and he was a

goodly man, and he was a goodly

man, and he was a goodly man, and

he was a goodly man, and he was a

goodly man, and he was a goodly

man, and he was a goodly man, and

he was a goodly man, and he was a

to do, and it won't hurt her to take care of it."

Here was a dilemma. He could not bear to see the child suffer, nor for a few minutes did he think money could buy him to take it over to the widow.

But he was in a hurry to go back to the scene of the wreck, so he did as he was advised, asking her to take it in charge until he could find some one who would do it, and whom he would take it liberally for caring for it.

Mrs. Brownson assured him she would be delighted to take it. She had thought some time of adopting a child, and her only fear was, in this case, that after she became greatly attached to it some one would claim it.

Mr. Brownson was quite pleased to find so good a harbor for the little stranger, still he did not like the idea of giving it up entirely. He was conscious that he had conceived something of a liking for it in the few moments its little arms had clung so lovingly about his neck; so he said, with a blush, and with the faintest attempt at a laugh, "I do not know, Mrs.

Brownson as I can quite renounce my claim."

Mr. Brownson was now really the best right to it of any one," said Mrs. Brownson,

"and you may claim just as large a share as you choose." Whereupon the child reached out its little arms to him, with a look which seemed to say, "And it shall not be a very small share either."

"How old a child should you call it?"

he asked.

"About six months, I judge, and now, come to think, she must very soon want some sustenance; and pray, Mr. Jacob, by whom am I to send for a nursing-bottle for her? I cannot go with her in my arms, and Jane, my girl, has gone home for the day."

"Ah! I am going down street, and then—can get one, I suppose."

Then the question of a bath for the standing asking for such an article caused him to blush quite to his ears, but duty again forbade that he should do otherwise, so he hastened to the nearest store, purchased one, and immediately returned with it. By this time the babe was screaming with hunger, and he stayed to witness the first feeding, which was done amid a great deal of struggling and squirming. Through the whole of it, the new mother manifested so much patience and good nature, that Jacob was lost in admiration, and almost forgot his hurry to return to the wreck, and, by the time he did, most of the dead had been removed to the morgue, and the wounded cared for.

When evening came he could hardly restrain from going to see his little protection, but finally waited till the ensuing day, and then asked Mrs. Brownson what name she proposed to give it. She said she had found the word "Mabel" engraved on the blanket-pin, and thought that might be the name its parents had given it.

"I think very likely," he replied,

"and doubtless that was the mother's name, too, for I saw her at the morgue to-day, poor thing, and across her forehead, which was badly cut, was bound a handkerchief on which was written

"Mabel Harmon." Oh! she was dreadfully mangled, and the father, too, and how the child escaped injury is the most wonderful thing imaginable.

Destruction of Timber.

In his evidence before the Agricultural Commission of Canada, says the Toronto Globe, Mr. Brown, of Port Elgin, expressed the opinion that the country should be reforested with forest trees. He recommended the planting of large nurseries by the Government, from which the people could obtain trees at a low price, and, also, that the Government should replant the crown lands, as is done in Australia and other countries. Mr. Brown has been engaged in the study of forestry all his life, and what he said before the commission is worthy of serious attention. The process of stripping the land of its timber supply, and more particularly of its merchantable timber, has been going on at a reckless rate for many years both in Canada and the United States, and unless it is checked the time must soon come when even the demands of the home market cannot be supplied. It is not with a forest as with grain or live stock; it can not be reproduced in a year or in a generation. Our great pine woods are the growth of hundreds of years, and once they are cut down or burned over the supply is ended.

The pine forests of Maine fifty years ago were thought to be inexhaustible.

Thousands of men were employed during the winter months felling and cutting trees, and in the summer rafting

the logs down the streams or cutting them into lumber in the mills. Bangor, on the Penobscot, was once the largest town in the United States. The river was lined with saw mills for miles, and

2,000 vessels were engaged in the carrying trade for the lumber. In 1853 there were 1,200 vessels, but in 1883 there had increased to 32,320. The lumber of the species are estimated at 125,000.

CHARLES D. MCGUFFEY, of Chattanooga, has been endeavoring "to get some idea" of the magnitude of the naturally reproduced lumber. He has made the calculation that if four men were to sit down to pay the interest, and count a silver dollar a second,

they could not keep the interest on the original debt; and if another should sit down at 2 years of age to count the principal at the same rate, he would be able to count the interest of the principal having ceased from the first moment. The pile of silver dollars, moreover, which he would make in counting

the interest of the principal, would be equal to the principal itself. The principal having ceased from the first moment, the pile of silver dollars, more-

over, which he would make in counting

the interest of the principal, would be

equal to the principal itself. The principal having ceased from the first moment, the pile of silver dollars, more-

over, which he would make in counting

the interest of the principal, would be

equal to the principal itself. The principal having ceased from the first moment, the pile of silver dollars, more-

over, which he would make in counting

the interest of the principal, would be

equal to the principal itself. The principal having ceased from the first moment, the pile of silver dollars, more-

over, which he would make in counting

the interest of the principal, would be

equal to the principal itself. The principal having ceased from the first moment, the pile of silver dollars, more-

that they may be rubbed together, one upon the other, by machinery. First sand and water are placed between them, then emery of different sizes, and after being ground with the finest emery they are polished by rubbing them with some kind of polishing powder.—American Agriculturist.

FACTS FOR THE CURIOUS.

ASTRONOMY is frequently fatal to persons of great mental and physical energy, some workmen still find their term of existence very short on account of the deadly nature of their employment.

One of the most famous of the astronomers is only 29 years, but that of the dry-grinder of sickles is 38 years. For every

70,451 tons of coal dug up in Prussia

the life of a miner is sacrificed; and in England there would be life for every 89,419 tons raised to the surface.

In the Bible about 100 planets are alluded to; Hippocrates mentioned 233;

Theophrastus 260 and Pliney 300. From the Renaissance, in the beginning of the sixteenth century Gesner could only enumerate 8,000, but his close at Bainsin described 6,000. Tournefort, in 1694, recorded 10,155 species, but in 1788 he

DEFECTIVE PAGE

ADVERTISEMENTS

BENTON Furniture Store!

BENTON & Jorreson,
BENTON - MINN.
We constantly on hand all kinds of Furniture
Bedsteads Bureaus Lounge
Picture Frames Coffins &c and will sell them at city prices.
CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS
Estimates furnished and all work done promptly and satisfactorily. Store in Chaska old hardware store.

EISELINE E. DEALER IN

General Merchandise
Waconia, Minn.
Goods at St. Paul and Minneapolis prices.
Produce taken in exchange for goods at CASH market prices.

LAKE HOUSE, A. F. SCHUETZ,

Waconia, Minn.
The best accommodations for Travelers. Fishing Parties and Pleasure Seekers. The hotel is lovely situated on the beautiful Clearwater lake. Stable and water on the premises.

Enger & Hanson

Carpenters and Builders,
CHASKA, MINN.
We will contract for buildings, such as dwellings, business houses, barns and granaries at the very lowest living prices, and guarantee all work. We will also furnish kinds of building material.
Plans and specifications also executed on demand.
Agents for the Ford DuLac Builiding Machine, manufacturers of ash, doors and blinds.
Jr. 12-20.

H. J. CHEVRE, SURVEYOR

AND FIRE INSURANCE AGENT.
CHASKA, MINN.

Hardware. STOVES

and Tinware!
ALBERT KOHLER,
Waconia, Minn.
Also FURNITURE of every description at city prices.
COFFINS! COFFINS! always kept on hand. Give me a call before purchasing elsewhere
A. KOHLER.

ALLEN'S ULCERINE SALVE

will positively cure all old sores and ulcers of every name and description. No matter of how many years standing. It has been used for over fifty years and we defy the public to instance a single case where it has failed.
There is no other remedy known that even claims to do what this salve actually does do and that without ever failing. If you have been suffering for one or fifty years with an ulcer, and tried ten thousand other remedies, do not fail by any means to use Ulcerine Salve for it will surely cure you.
Send for descriptive catalogue containing full directions and numerous sworn testimonials; one will be mailed to any address free of charge, Price 50 cts. per bottle.
Prepared by J. P. ALLEN, Druggist and Manufacturing Pharmacist, 51 PAUL MINN.
For Sale at JOS. FRANKEN'S Drug Store, Chaska, Minn.

MATTHIAS H. MYRES, NOTARY PUBLIC

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE AGENT.
Chaska, - - - Minn.
Fees paid for non residents, also agent for the North German Lloyd Steam Ship.
Office Over Herald Office.

MERCHANTS HOTEL.

The "Merchants" is now prepared for business. If you want a square meal, and a clean bed stop with me, second door East of "Herald Block."
Chaska, Minn.
J. F. Dilley, Propr.

G. C. OSWALD

WHOLESALE DEALER IN Bourbon and Rye Whiskies, Brandies, Gins, Wines and Cigars.
No 8, Pence Opera House, MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

LOCAL NEWS.

Minneapolis & St. Louis Railway.

T. ME CARD NO. 38.
Taking effect May 30th 1880.
Trains going South
Passenger (Merriam Junction) 8:30 a. m.
Local Freight 8:45 a. m.
St. Louis Passenger 9:45 p. m.
Through Freight
Trains going North.
St. Louis Passenger 10:30 a. m.
Local Freight 8:45 p. m.
Passenger (Merriam Junction) 1:35 a. m.
Through Freight
S. W. Lusk, Agent.

Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul Ry.

H & D Div.
TIME TABLE NO. 55.
Trains going East.
Freight, 1:30 a. m.
Mixed, 8:20 a. m.
Express, 2:55 p. m.
Freight, 3:40 p. m.
Freight, 11:10 p. m.
Trains going West.
Freight, 2:10 a. m.
Passenger, 10:50 a. m.
Freight, 1:30 p. m.
Mixed, 4:50 p. m.
Mixed, 11:50 p. m.
Freight.
FRED GREINER, Jr. Agent.

Here and There.

Oh! how fearful cold.
Wood is still very scarce.
Good skating on the river.
Fresh Oysters at G. Eiders.
Sleigh Bells, now in order.
Heating stoves at "Henks."
Get out your B. B. Cows.
Rabbit hunting is all the go.
Wood sawyers are in demand.
Maple Syrup, at Youngs store.
All our stores are full of Pot'ry.
Pork is coming in at a lively rate.
We are enjoying Thanksgiving to-day.
Wheat coming into Chaska very freely.
Cloaks and Dolmans at Lunefelser & Faber.
A fine lot of "blankets" at Streissguth's store.
Henk has sold 100 heating stoves this fall.
Our Hotels are all doing a fine business this fall.
When receipts in Chaska are indeed, very large.
For a nice Clock, call on Discon, the jeweler.
Our merchants are over run with business this fall.
Fresh bread, cakes and pies, on hand at all times at Errens bakery.
The highest price in cash, for wheat at the Chaska steam mill.
12 degrees below zero, at 5 o'clock Monday morning. Good for November.
For a good bob-sled, or an elegant cutter, call on Jos. Ess. He has 'em.
F. W. Henning & Bro., are selling goods very cheap. Call and examine their stock and prices.
A handsomely dressed "little dog" was the attraction on our streets last week.
Our old friend W. S. Combs, of St. Paul, was in town on business last week.
The village council had a meeting last Monday evening and transacted considerable business.
Lunefelser & Faber have been shipping considerable barley to Minneapolis during the past week.
Birchlines Mill is running day and night, most of his flour going to New York and Philadelphia.
Jas. Ward, an old resident of this country in by gone years, has been spending a few weeks with Col. Baxter.
Fred Seeger and family, have moved into Lunks House, and M. J. Myres and wife, have occupied the house vacated by Fred.
Gregg & Griswold, are getting wood from Kilkenny, on the Minn. & St. Louis Road, for burning 5000 brick now on their yard.
We understand that "Garnishue Sammons" have been served on F. W. Henning & Bro., Wm. Seeger & Son, and Mrs. Henry Young, by creditors of N. B. Harwood & Co., of Minneapolis.
A large number of "Garnishue Sammons" were served on Messrs. Rosser & Brackett, Railroad contractors, in behalf of farmers, laborers, and business men, on Tuesday, to secure payments of money due from sub-contractors, Johnson, Anderson and others.

Valuable Acquisition.

George H. Devens and wife and Curtis Kelsy, of Minneapolis, have moved to Chaska and will make their future home. Messrs. Devens & Curtis, are first class painters and grainers, and are ready to answer to all calls, and will guarantee as good work as can be done in any of the big cities of the country.
Mr. Devens and family have moved into the Eiselein building.

Painful Accident.

We are informed that the young son of Frank Wickenhans, of Dahlgreen, broke his leg, below the knee, on Monday last, while sliding down hill on a hand sled. The sled collided with a hay rack, with the above result. He is doing well at this writing, however.

Death of Otto Doltz.

We learn from a dispatch to the Saint Paul Pioneer Press, dated Glencoe, November 10th, that Otto Doltz, son of Frederick Doltz, of Young America, was found dead in bed, at that place on Friday morning. He was a clerk and book-keeper in the store of C. T. Buchanan. His brother Edward Doltz, was a member of the firm of Buchanan & Doltz, and accidentally shot himself about a year ago, and the sudden and unexpected death of Otto, causes deep regret, as he was well known and universally respected.

CATTLE FAIR.

The next regular Monthly Cattle Fair takes place in Chaska next Saturday, November 27th and promises to be well attended by buyers and traders. The committee have information that over 100 buyers will be in attendance and they want all the stock they can lay, and will pay big prices for the same. So bring in your stock.

Town of Chaska and H. & D. Railroad.

Joseph Vogel, Chairman of the town Board of Supervisors of the town of Chaska, was in town on Monday for the purpose of commencing an action against the Hastings & Dakota Railroad Company, for obstructing the highway in Chaska, near Eiders farm, and also near Martin Raser farm.

Holiday Notice.

If our merchants want any extra Holiday advertising now is the time to send it to our office, as the Holiday trade will soon commence. Special rates given to regular advertisers. Call in and see us at once.

Deserved Promotion.

The many friends of E. W. Graves, late operator of the Minneapolis office in this village, will be pleased to learn that he has lately been appointed as, train dispatcher, for the Hastings and Dakota Division of the C. M. & St. Paul Railroad, with head quarters at Minneapolis.

Death of Eugene Pichette.

Eugene Pichette, of the village of Helvetia, died on Tuesday, Nov. 10th, from injuries received in removing stumps, as mentioned in last weeks issue of the Herald.

Valuable Citizens.

The Carver County Bank of this city, cashed over $10,000. of foreign drafts for new comers last week, being mostly Germans.

Chaska Social Club.

A meeting was held last evening at Dr. Lewis office and the Chaska social club organized, by electing for President, Dr. E. H. Lewis, Secy., Warren Mevin, and Fred Eder for Treasurer.

Dols & Jorreson.

This firm, whose advertisement appears in another column, of Benton, are doing a large business in the furniture line. They keep a large and varied stock of common and fancy furniture, which they sell at Minneapolis prices and hence command a large trade.

PERSONAL.

H. J. Peck, attorney, of Shakopee was in town on Monday.
Jas. Sloum, Jr., the well known merchant of Norwood, was in town Monday, and dropped in to see us.
Hon. A. W. Tiffany, of Norwood, left on Monday last for the east, to be gone about three weeks, visiting the dear old "childhood home."

Peter Fritz, Esq., of St. Paul, was in town last Saturday, on his return from Waconia, where he had been visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. Fritz, business place is No. 172 west 3rd St.
Messrs. Hainlin, Brown, Akens, Vunson and Ackor, of Watertown, were in town on Tuesday, on "courting" business.

For a No. 1 article of cider, call on G. Eder.

MARRIED.

At the Catholic Church, Chaska, Tuesday, November 23rd 1880 by the Rev. Father Clementine, Mr. Frank Schindler to Miss Katie Schmidt.

The above contracting parties were all well known in this vicinity, and their many friends wish them a long, happy and prosperous journey "on their life's rugged path" and many "little reminders" of conjugal bliss.

Kromschmidt & Sheahan.

This well known firm of Benton, has put in one of the largest stock of goods, this fall that was ever brought to Benton, and having been purchased for cash, they are enabled to give their cash customers the advantage of very low prices, and in order to convince our readers that such is the fact, we advise them to try the firm and see if we are not correct.

H. & D. Cat OR.

The work of laying the track on the H. & D. Cat. Off. is progressing quite rapidly, notwithstanding the extreme cold weather of the past two weeks. The iron has been laid as far as the cut near Mrs. Nantgens farm. As soon as grading is completed at that point, the work of laying down the track will be resumed.

NEW HARNESS SHOP!

by
John Lebens
Opposite Iltis Hotel,
CHASKA, MINN.
MANUFACTURER & DEALER IN HARNESSES, COLLARS, WHIPS, SADDLERY, BLANKETS, &c. &c.

Lindefelser & Faber.

Chaska, Minn.
Dealers in Dry Goods, Crockery and Glass Ware, Boots and Shoes, Ready Made Clothing, Hats and Caps, Groceries, &c.

No Closing Out Sale HUMBUG.

We buy our Goods in New York and Chicago for CASH and are determined to sell as cheap if not cheaper than the cheapest.

We Main business, and will Not be Undersold by any

House in the County.
We pay the highest market price in cash for all kinds of Produce and take the same in exchange for goods at cash prices.

Wm. Seeger & Son.

CHASKA, MINN.
We are not Clearing nor Selling Out, but SELL summer, Fall & Winter Goods at Wholesale cash prices as cheap as any body and

Guarantee Our Customers the full value of their money in all what we sell them.

We have a full stock of the nicest choice Goods on hand, and won't be undersold by any body here or outside of this town. We continue to buy Wheat, Barley, Oats, Rye, Corn, in fact all Country Produce for Cash at highest Market Prices, sell and grind all kinds of feed.

Give us a call and judge for yourselves.
SEPTEMBER 8, 1880.

Clothing, Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

Now that our agent, A. H. Mayres, is married and settled down to business, he will call upon our subscribers next week. Be ready to pay him, as we must have money.

Catholic Fair at Norwood.

The Fair for the Catholic Church, at Norwood, will be held on Wednesday and Thursday, December 1st and 2nd. All are cordially invited, and I hope to meet many of my friends on those days at Norwood.

REV. FATHER BRAEN

Mike Bierline, left for New York, 1st Wednesday, in the interest of his flouring mill. He will be gone three weeks.

JEWELRY!

CHRISTMAS GIFTS!
Watches, Clocks, Rings, Pins, &c.
And a lot of fancy articles of jewelry suitable for Christmas and birthday presents, just received from Chicago and New York, which I will sell at bottom prices, call and examine my goods.
LEONAS DIACON, Chaska.

CARVER COUNTY LOAN AND REAL ESTATE AGENCY

Chaska, Minn.
Money Loaned on Improved Farms at LOWEST Rates.
BUYS AND SELLS LAND. PAYS TAXES FOR NON RESIDENTS.
Money Invested for outside Parties on First-class security.
Bills of Exchange sold on all principal European cities.
FOREIGN PASSAGE TICKETS, AT LOWEST RATES.

I HAVE FOR SALE THE FOLLOWING CHOICE PIECES OF REAL ESTATE IN CARVER COUNTY, AT REASONABLE FIGURES. PORTION ON TIME.

North West 1/4 of Section 14.	Camden Town
South East 1/4 " 30.	"
West 1/2 of S. E. 1/4 " 25.	Hollywood "
" " " 2.	Camden Town
North East 1/4 " 10.	"
West 1/2 of N. E. 1/4 " 11.	"
East 1/2 " " 11.	"
South 1/2 " " 14.	"

20 Lots in the villages of Chaska and Carver.
OFFICE WITH CARVER COUNTY BANK, CHASKA.
GEO. A. DU TOIT.

LIST OF NEW BARGAINS

at
STREISSGUTH'S CHEAP STORE!

Lot 2609, Twenty Men's Suits, good and neat, only Six Dollars.
Lot 4220, Fifteen Men's Suits, strong, dark color, only Eight Dollars.
Lot 7238, Twenty Men's Heavy Overcoats only Five Dollars.
Lot 7241, Twenty Men's Heavy Chinilla overcoats, only Eight Dollars.
Fifty Pairs Mens Boots, a big bargain - only Two Dollars.
Ten Pieces new Dress Goods, all colors - one 1 1/2 cents.

Fall Stock now complete in all departments.

A NEW LOT OF THOSE BEAUTIFUL
CLOAKS and DOLMANS
Just Arrived.

Flannels and Jeans in great variety. A splendid line of Youth's, Mens and Boys Clothing.

Streissguth's, Cheap Store.

Dealer in

Drugs and Medicines, Chemicals, Perfumery, Soaps Combs and Brushes and Toilet Articles, China Ware, Books and Stationery A LARGE AND WELL SELECTED STOCK OF
WALL PAPER
Kerosene, Linseed, and all kinds of MACHINE OILS, which will be sold at the lowest prices. FRUIT JARS, GRASS & GARDEN SEEDS, and a large stock of
Window Glass and Glass Ware, Putty, Paints Varnishes
Dye Stuffs, Pure Wines and Liqueurs for medicinal purposes
PATENT MEDICINES OF ALL KINDS.
PHYSICIAN'S PRESCRIPTIONS Compounded from the purest drugs, made specialty and all orders promptly filled.
also Represents the following old & Reliable Ins. Companies CHESAIRE, N. Y. SPRINGFIELD, F. & M. MASS. MANHATTAN, N. Y.
GERMANIA, LIFE INS. N. Y.
Makes a specialty of Farm Insurance.
OFFICE, DRUG STORE

Wm. Seeger & Son.

CHASKA, MINN.
We are not Clearing nor Selling Out, but SELL summer, Fall & Winter Goods at Wholesale cash prices as cheap as any body and

Guarantee Our Customers the full value of their money in all what we sell them.

We have a full stock of the nicest choice Goods on hand, and won't be undersold by any body here or outside of this town. We continue to buy Wheat, Barley, Oats, Rye, Corn, in fact all Country Produce for Cash at highest Market Prices, sell and grind all kinds of feed.

Give us a call and judge for yourselves.
SEPTEMBER 8, 1880.

Clothing, Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps.

I start in now with a very large and varied stock of Double and Single Harness, Whips, Blankets, Trunks, Valises. All kinds of Riding Saddles, Plastering Hair, Harness Oil &c., and all other goods in my line which will be sold at bottom prices for cash. Repairing done to order on short notice.
Give me a call and examine my stock.

IN THE NEW BRICK STORE OPPOSITE HENK'S HARDWARE STORE, 24 ST.

I start in now with a very large and varied stock of Double and Single Harness, Whips, Blankets, Trunks, Valises. All kinds of Riding Saddles, Plastering Hair, Harness Oil &c., and all other goods in my line which will be sold at bottom prices for cash. Repairing done to order on short notice.
Give me a call and examine my stock.

Wm. Seeger & Son.

CHASKA, MINN.
We are not Clearing nor Selling Out, but SELL summer, Fall & Winter Goods at Wholesale cash prices as cheap as any body and

Guarantee Our Customers the full value of their money in all what we sell them.

We have a full stock of the nicest choice Goods on hand, and won't be undersold by any body here or outside of this town. We continue to buy Wheat, Barley, Oats, Rye, Corn, in fact all Country Produce for Cash at highest Market Prices, sell and grind all kinds of feed.

Give us a call and judge for yourselves.
SEPTEMBER 8, 1880.

Clothing, Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps.

I start in now with a very large and varied stock of Double and Single Harness, Whips, Blankets, Trunks, Valises. All kinds of Riding Saddles, Plastering Hair, Harness Oil &c., and all other goods in my line which will be sold at bottom prices for cash. Repairing done to order on short notice.
Give me a call and examine my stock.

Wm. Seeger & Son.

CHASKA, MINN.
We are not Clearing nor Selling Out, but SELL summer, Fall & Winter Goods at Wholesale cash prices as cheap as any body and

Guarantee Our Customers the full value of their money in all what we sell them.

We have a full stock of the nicest choice Goods on hand, and won't be undersold by any body here or outside of this town. We continue to buy Wheat, Barley, Oats, Rye, Corn, in fact all Country Produce for Cash at highest Market Prices, sell and grind all kinds of feed.

Give us a call and judge for yourselves.
SEPTEMBER 8, 1880.

Clothing, Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps.

I start in now with a very large and varied stock of Double and Single Harness, Whips, Blankets, Trunks, Valises. All kinds of Riding Saddles, Plastering Hair, Harness Oil &c., and all other goods in my line which will be sold at bottom prices for cash. Repairing done to order on short notice.
Give me a call and examine my stock.

Wm. Seeger & Son.

CHASKA, MINN.
We are not Clearing nor Selling Out, but SELL summer, Fall & Winter Goods at Wholesale cash prices as cheap as any body and

Guarantee Our Customers the full value of their money in all what we sell them.

We have a full stock of the nicest choice Goods on hand, and won't be undersold by any body here or outside of this town. We continue to buy Wheat, Barley, Oats, Rye, Corn, in fact all Country Produce for Cash at highest Market Prices, sell and grind all kinds of feed.

Give us a call and judge for yourselves.
SEPTEMBER 8, 1880.

Clothing, Dry Goods, Groceries, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps.

I start in now with a very large and varied stock of Double and Single Harness, Whips, Blankets, Trunks, Valises. All kinds of Riding Saddles, Plastering Hair, Harness Oil &c., and all other goods in my line which will be sold at bottom prices for cash. Repairing done to order on short notice.
Give me a call and examine my stock.

Wm. Seeger & Son.

CHASKA, MINN.
We are not Clearing nor Selling Out, but SELL summer, Fall & Winter Goods at Wholesale cash prices as cheap as any body and

Guarantee Our Customers the full value of their money in all what we sell them.

We have a full stock of the nicest choice Goods on hand, and won't be undersold by any body here or outside of this town. We continue to buy Wheat, Barley, Oats, Rye, Corn, in fact all Country Produce for Cash at highest Market Prices, sell and grind all kinds of feed.

Give us a call and judge for yourselves.
SEPTEMBER 8, 1880.